MOLEY PICKED TO LEAD WAR ON RACKETEER

ROOSEVELT DESIRES EARLY START ON NEW SHIPS

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt today ordered a special study of means to fight kidnapping and racketeering at the request of Attorney General Cummings and named Raymond Moley, assistant secretary of state, to do the job.

The appointment came on the eve of the arrival of Secretary Hull of the state department who is variously reported to be returning from the London economic conference with some ill feeling over his relations with Moley.

Back State Officers
But Mr. Roosevelt emphasized to newspaper men that there was nothing behind the Moley appointment and that he would continue as assistant secretary of state, resuming his duties after his brief survey of kidnapping and racketeering.

Pending the special Moley study of crime and a compilation of state and federal laws and enforcement methods, the president is withholding the adoption of a final plan for beating down kidnappers. However, he will give every ounce of federal aid in the meantime to state officers.

Moley has been at the side of Mr. Roosevelt ever since campaign days and was the only man with him during the war debts negotiations starting with the pre-inauguration conference with President Hoover and Secretary Mills.

War Debts Studied
War debts negotiations are in prospect again. Mr. Roosevelt so far is not seeking the advice of any other.

Sitting in his shirt-sleeves in the darkened study of his family home, Mr. Roosevelt received newspapermen for their regular interview and discussed a wide range of topics, focusing on the war on crime and government financing and industrial recovery.

He was jubilant over the six-fold oversubscription of the treasury's $250,000,000 August financing offer, which included sale of $500,000,000 in eight year bonds at 3 3/4 per cent.

On the banks of the Hudson river late today, Mr. Roosevelt went over with Admiral William Standley, chief of naval operations, and Rear Admiral Emory Land, chief of construction, the value of the bids recently opened for the building of 21 new warships.

Mr. Roosevelt wanted to determine if the bids are low enough. He also desires the naval construction to get under way just as rapidly as possible.

Back to Washington
He wants to aid the job-making campaign by the construction. He is mindful, too, that the American fleet is far below treaty strength and that other world powers are building up to the limits allowed by the limitations agreement.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt plan to go directly from here to the Shenandoah valley in Virginia on their departure August 11. From there they will motor to Washington through some of the civilian conservation corps camps in that state.

BOAT DISABLED ON LAKE ERIE

Passenger Steamer With 250 Aboard Towed Back to Detroit

Detroit, Aug. 2 (AP)—The passenger steamer Greater, Buffalo, with more than 250 persons aboard, which left for the east yesterday afternoon, was towed back to Detroit today after becoming disabled in Lake Erie. The vessel had completed about half its run to Buffalo when a crack was discovered in the shaft to the starboard paddle wheel at 12:15 a. m. today.

An hour later, after drifting with the current, the ship was taken in tow by her sister ship, the Greater Detroit, on her west-bound trip from Buffalo to Detroit. The disabled ship was towed by the Greater Detroit to the mouth of the Detroit river where tugs took over the tow.

Few of the passengers aboard knew of the incident until dawn today when instead of approaching Buffalo they found themselves headed back to Detroit in tow of the big liner Greater Detroit.

At no time did any of the passengers experience discomfort, officials of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation company said, and at no time were they in danger.

Druggan Favorite In Prison, Charge

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—An investigation to determine whether or not Druggan, erstwhile Chicago beer baron, is being granted unusual privileges at Leavenworth penitentiary is being conducted by the department of justice.

It was said unofficially tonight that the inquiry had disclosed that the prisoner had been granted favors and the dismissal of some prison employees was likely. James V. Bennett, assistant director of the bureau of prisons, was sent to Leavenworth to investigate after a newspaper had turned over information it had received to the department of justice.

Bennett is still at the penitentiary.

California Aims Blow At Kidnaping

Sacramento, Calif., Aug. 2 (AP)—Governor James Rolph, Jr., signed two bills today which are designed to make kidnaping unprofitable in California. One established a $10,000 state reward fund, the other provides the death penalty or life imprisonment without parole, at the discretion of juries. The new laws became effective 91 days after the adjournment date of the legislature, July 26.

Public Works Gives Michigan $2,875,304

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—Distribution of almost $49,000,000 of federal money for unemployment relief in July to 42 states, three territories, and the District of Columbia, was recounted in detail today by the federal relief agency. Michigan's share amounted to $2,875,304, and that of Wisconsin to $2,074,861.

DELAYED AGAIN

Shoal Harbor, Nfld., Aug. 2 (AP)—Another postponement of the Italian air armada's longest flight from here to Valentia Island, Ireland, was ordered today by the leader, General Italo Balbo, on receiving reports of persistence of fog in mid-Atlantic.

MACHINE GUNS HELP TO COOL OFF STRIKERS

LEADERS SUMMONED TO IRON OUT DISPUTE

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—The possibility of a settlement tomorrow of the Pennsylvania bituminous coal strike was seen tonight by Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, at the end of a conference with spokesmen for the operators and labor concerned.

BY MARTIN GRAHAM
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Brownsville, Pa., Aug. 2 (AP) Peace moves—and machine guns—frowning from hilltop vantage points—spread a spirit of calm over the trouble spots of Pennsylvania's strike-ravaged soft coal fields today.

An easier atmosphere pervaded the entire strike zone, where a walkout eight days ago of 2,500 men has spread to some 35,000 men—demanding recognition of the United Mine Workers of America.

Pickets congregated again in large numbers, and at Star Junction, where six strikers were shot and wounded in disorders yesterday, nearly 1,000 strike sympathizers taunted coal company police but no disturbance occurred.

Machine guns were set up by national guardsmen at four workings, scenes of the fighting yesterday in which one striker was killed.

About 14 miles of the Frick company were closed after the company's decision to suspend operations until protection for its workers is guaranteed.

JOHNSON HEARD
Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 2 (AP)—Driving his campaign for national recovery in a strike-splattered Pennsylvania, General Hugh S. Johnson today faced disputes which produce "fierce local troubles" and appealed for peaceful conferences to settle the state's widespread strikes.

Declaring he did not know "who is wrong or who is right" in the bituminous strike in western Pennsylvania, he asserted: "These few fierce local troubles will seem to the rest of the country like someone blowing a fire siren in the midst of a symphony concert."

Greeted by Cheers
General Johnson forced upon the mass meeting today his military impatience with any thing or person blocking national recovery. "God help the man or group of men who stand against this drive," he shouted, pounding the desk as he told of the Roosevelt recovery policies and their objectives.

Commenting on shootings and disputes between the governor, sheriff and mine operators, he said:

"I don't see why blood should flow and men should refuse to talk with one another when the whole country is sacrificing everything to get the people close together."

"I would talk to the devil, himself, if I thought there was any chance of making hell colder." Strikes and disorders, he added, exact their toll ultimately on the "long suffering people" who must pay the bills.

The assessments amounted to $39,423.39, and in forwarding checks for this amount, Mr. Couzens said that regardless of the questions raised as to the legality of the assessment, "the moral obligation to pay is clear," and added that neither he or Mrs. Couzens desired to avail themselves of "any technical or other reasons for not paying" it.

Arizona Repeal Attack Crushed

Phoenix, Ariz., Aug. 2 (AP)—Judge G. A. Rogers of the Maricopa county superior court today dismissed a complaint brought by Charles R. Osborn, campaign manager of the Arizona Temperance Federation, for an injunction to prevent Arizona's voting next Tuesday on repeal of the 18th amendment.

Osborn sought the injunction on the contention the act of the legislature providing a method whereby Arizona may act on any proposed amendments to the federal constitution was "wholly null and void" and violated the United States constitution and the general laws of the State of Arizona.

Children Discover Narcotics In Woods

Hazel Park, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP)—A group of children today were found playing with vials of cocaine, opium and other narcotics they had discovered in a woods nearby, and police said apparently they had found a part of the loot of a recent drug store burglary.

Officers began a search of the woods for the remainder of the narcotics taken from the safe of a Highland Park drug store in a burglary in which $800 cash also was taken.

July Deficit 32 Million Despite Federal Savings

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—The federal government spent $107,000,000 more than its income during the first month of the new fiscal year.

Despite a reduction in ordinary expenditures of $155,000,000 under the amount for the same month of the previous fiscal year, the month-end statement for July showed that $32,000,000 more was spent for the normal maintenance of the government than was collected from taxes and other sources of income.

Emergency expenditures of $75,000,000 completed the first year for the month-end deficit. During the month, some of the governmental economies contemplated by President Roosevelt had gone into effect, but the full savings from his complete program will not be held for some time.

Under its new method of listing expenditures, the treasury separated the money spent for normal governmental purposes from those used in the various emergency activities.

The total income for July was $163,213,570. Total ordinary expenditures were $195,617,968. Emergency expenditures were $75,352,742.

On both income and expenditures improvement was shown in the government's financial position. Revenue increased $75,132,000 over July of last year, while the expenditures, reflecting the sharply reduced spending under the economy program, were $155,000,000 lower.

Miscellaneous internal revenue, including the new levies from the billion dollar tax bill and beer receipts led in productive income, returning $113,679,674 as compared with $42,463,549 in July last year.

Income taxes fell off approximately $4,000,000 to $12,993,428 while customs duties advanced more than $6,000,000 to $25,981,244.

For department expenses, public building construction by the treasury, river and harbor work, national defense and the veterans administration, the government spent $136,245,813 as compared with $209,035,984 in the same month a year ago.

Another $500,000,000 saving was in the amount devoted to the adjusted service certificate fund, in which the government placed only $50,000,000 as compared with $100,000,000 in July, 1932.

Internal revenue refunds were down approximately $1,500,000 while the postal deficiency, amounting to $5,678,597 in July, 1932, totalled only $2,999 last month.

Wayne's efforts to go ahead with his argument again were frustrated by Stack and the hearing momentarily turned into a quarrel between Stack and O'Brien.

"You can't argue that question to me," Stack said. "I'm not interested and I won't take it."

The attorney general suggested "if you don't want to hear this argument you can step out of the room," to which Stack replied: "I'm just as much a member of this commission as you."

Bankers Are "Wolves"
Stack leveled general criticism against the refunding plan, claiming it would cost bondholders and the city about $3,000,000. He recommended that the city do its own refunding without using banks as depositories for the bonds. One of the depositories selected by the bondholders committee is the Bankers Trust Company, of Detroit.

"Any time you enter into a contract with bankers they're going to squeeze all they can out of you," Stack said. "There may be exceptions but my experience with them is that they are a lot of wolves."

David Wood, New York attorney representing the bondholders' committee, said the cost of refunding under the plan would not exceed $1,000,000.

Wayne County Man Gets Federal Job Good For One Week
Detroit, Aug. 2 (AP)—John Murphy, who sought the Democratic nomination for sheriff of Wayne county last year, today was notified of his appointment as acting deputy prohibition administrator for eastern Michigan, but from Washington came word that the job was to be eliminated within a week.

By August 9, the Washington advice said, the bureau of prohibition is to be merged with other federal offices under the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. Thomas H. Brennan, present deputy administrator, said he had had no word that he was to be replaced.

Robbers Surrounded After Bank Holdup

Coffeyville, Kas., Aug. 2 (AP)—A posse late today surrounded a farm near here where they reported sighting two of a group of robbers who terrorized their city more than four hours, stole a bank safe and left sixteen citizens captive in the city jail.

The 100 pursuers were armed with machine guns. A contingent of national guard dismounted cavalry was ordered into the chase by the adjutant general.

Vernon Robbery Suspect Quizzed

Owosso, Aug. 2 (AP)—Nick Partisi, of Detroit, arraigned Wednesday on a charge of robbery armed in connection with the holdup of the Vernon State bank here last Friday, pleaded not guilty and was remanded for examination August 8. Two others involved in the hold up still are being sought.

CRASH INTO TRUCK

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP)—Thrown out of a roadster in which they were riding when it collided with a motor truck on the Big Bay road tonight, Carl Judy and Miss Gwendolyn Bryce were painfully, but not seriously hurt. Two others in the roadster, Donald Kroken and Miss Eileen Ford, also were thrown out, but were not injured. Judy was one of five persons in a coupe which struck a bridge over Dead River a few weeks ago. He was not injured.

O'BRIEN GETS VERBAL SLAPS FROM AUDITOR

STACK CRITICIZES DETROIT BOND REFUNDING

Lansing, Aug. 2 (AP)—Sharp verbal thrusts were exchanged between two members of the Democratic state cabinet today as Detroit's $300,000,000 refunding bond petition was submitted to a hearing before the state public debt commission.

The hearing developed into heated exchanges between Attorney General Patrick H. O'Brien, and Auditor General John K. Stack over the principle of repudiation. Theodore I. Fry, state treasurer, and third member of the commission, did not join in the dispute. Merits of the petition itself were taken under advisement by the commission following the hearing and a decision will be made later.

"Just Bolshevism"
O'Brien urged the city to withhold refunding plans pending enactment by congress of a law providing for municipal receiverships. The attorney general's suggestion brought a remark from Stack that "your theory is sheer Bolshevism."

The real fireworks got under way when Frederick A. Wayne, representing the Taxpayers Protective Association of Detroit, recommended that the city "scale down" its bond values. Charging that the principle was in fact repudiation, Stack said "I refuse to listen to any such talk." O'Brien, however, requested Wayne to proceed with the explanation.

Wayne's efforts to go ahead with his argument again were frustrated by Stack and the hearing momentarily turned into a quarrel between Stack and O'Brien.

"You can't argue that question to me," Stack said. "I'm not interested and I won't take it."

The attorney general suggested "if you don't want to hear this argument you can step out of the room," to which Stack replied: "I'm just as much a member of this commission as you."

DEATH FOR KISS

Stella Christoff, 17-year-old daughter of an Edwardsville, Ill., truck farmer, was quoted by State's Attorney M. L. Geers as saying she shot to death Nelson Voss, 25-year-old rural mail carrier, "because he squeezed me and tried to kiss me and I got mad." (Associated Press Photo)

POLICE COMBING GANGSTER DIVES

Nat Bass of New York Kidnaped Monday; Back Unharm

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Nathan Baskowitz, Brooklyn real estate dealer, was released unharm after being kidnaped Monday night for $25,000 ransom.

He was returned at Fugazy bowl in Coney Island, the sports arena in which Humbert Fugazy, Broadway fight promoter, and Baskowitz's brother, who calls himself Arthur Bass, are partners.

Bass said that no ransom was paid but did not offer any explanation as to why the kidnappers should have freed his brother.

PAID $40,000
New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—The kidnapers of Lieutenant John J. O'Connell, Jr., and Nathan Baskowitz, Brooklyn real estate and boxing promoter, were hunted today in two police searches that extended throughout the city's gangster haunts.

O'Connell, nephew of the politically powerful O'Connell brothers of Albany, N. Y., was returned after payment of a $40,000 ransom early Sunday.

SEEK INDICTMENTS
Albany, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—Although no arrests have been made, District Attorney John T. Delaney announced today he would present the O'Connell kidnaping case to a grand jury next week.

The bulky young national guard lieutenant, John J. O'Connell, Jr., for whose release his politically powerful family paid $40,000, will be one of the first witnesses. Dan O'Connell, the uncle who negotiated with the kidnapers through an intermediary also will testify. Other witnesses, unrevealed, also will be called.

Disorder Spreads In Milk Strikes

Boonville, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—New York state's milk strike, marked at its opening yesterday by armed clashes between troops and angry farmers, today spread to new sectors as hundreds of cans of milk wrested from strikers were dumped upon roads to city dairy plants.

While physical violence decreased, there were not enough troops to watch all roads at once and the dumping activities were greater. Some key dairy plants in central New York the most affected zone, reported their daily supply cut three-fourths to one half under normal as a result of the action of road pickets.

Pigs Are Missing From Prison Farm

Jackson, Aug. 2 (AP)—Twenty-one pigs, owned by the Michigan state prison are being sought by prison authorities. They were carried away from the Lowden farm operated by the prison, just east of the institution here.

DISEASE HALTS HEARING

Flint, Aug. 2 (AP)—A hearing on the writ of habeas corpus whereby James R. Procnier hopes to regain possession of his six year old daughter, Leda Doran, from his divorced wife, probably will be held Saturday. The writ was returnable Wednesday but could not be held because Mrs. Procnier and the child are quarantined for scarlet fever.

TIME ALMOST RIPE TO PUSH FOR BUSINESS

500,000 MICHIGAN WORKERS UNDER NRA CODES

BY JAMES P. SELVAGE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—Pace quickening moves by Hugh S. Johnson today swept hundreds of thousands more workers into the recovery administration's new wage and hour circle and opened the way for a new form of cooperation between capital and labor.

Other principal developments of an action-cramped day were: Johnson promised a buyers' drive "when the time is ripe" to assure a market for the products of the re-stimulated industries.

Leeway for Banks
Authorization for 14,000 member banks of the American Bankers' association and 6,000 other banks, if they subscribe, to put into effect the wage and hour provisions of their own code pending hearing, instead of President Roosevelt's blanket agreement.

Similar permission for the electrical manufacturing, radio, rayon weaving, bedding, and rayon and synthetic yarn industries to put their own wage and hour limitations into effect.

Dispute over whether governmental price fixing should be given the old index.

Continuation of hearings or codes for the millinery, oil pipe and cotton garment industries.

Advancement to August 6 of the bituminous coal hearing because of strikes in western and central Pennsylvania.

Wires by Thousands
Receipt of thousands more telegrams reporting employers were signing the agreements with President Roosevelt to raise wages and shorten hours to receive the N. R. A.'s blue eagle.

Johnson went before the cotton garment and kindred industries with his plan for a nationwide purchasing drive which would favor those stores displaying the blue eagle.

"We know that unless your goods are moved off your shelves you cannot keep up your part in this program," the administrator said.

"The time is approaching, and the signal will be merely the certainty that this plan is working—that people are back at work with a certainty this is no flash in the pan."

"When that moment comes—and I think it is almost here—we are then going out in supplement to the drive that we are making to bring the whole country together on re-employment; to bring the whole country together on patronizing those people who aided in this great cooperative national movement."

Can't Be Premature
Johnson said the signal had been delayed only because "we don't want to repeat the mistakes of the past," adding that "we would regard it as fair or equitable or proper or prudent to go out and urge the people to begin increased spending until we thought that it was safe for them to do so."

Provision has been made for creating state industrial boards of three members each, one to represent labor, one to represent employers and the other the public.

They will be named by the administrator from nominees presented by the national board and will "cooperate with the employers and employees in organizing industrial relations in individual textile factories and to cooperate with these committees in the adjustment of differences concerned with the 'stretch-out' system and other working conditions."

Individual factory committees would appeal to the state boards if they are unable to get an

Little Nira Gets Note From F. D. R.

Philadelphia, Aug. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt today honored Mrs. Christopher J. Collins, Jr. and her new daughter, Nira.

In a letter written at the summer White House at Hyde Park, N. Y., the president congratulated Mrs. Collins and sent his personal wishes to the tot who was christened in honor of his National Industrial Recovery Act.

The father was not present for the first reading of the letter. He was at work on one of the jobs he said was created within the last few weeks by NIRA.

SAYS SHERIFFS ARE "FAILURES"

Northwestern Professor Suggests Reforms in Crime Setup

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP)—The nation's police chiefs were told tonight by Dr. Augustus R. Hatton, of Northwestern university, that the sheriff as a law enforcement agent is a failure.

"As long as he is serving both as an officer of the court in civil matters and as a law enforcement agent, the sheriff is of no use," Hatton said. "I don't think, however, we ought to get rid of him altogether," he added. Hatton, a professor of political economy, spoke before a meeting of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

He suggested reforms he believed should be made in crime fighting machinery. Some of them were:

Police and prosecutor should be responsible to the same head.

City police should be under a central state authority.

The national guard should not be called to quell a local crisis.

The governor should have power to draft police from other cities to go to distressed communities.

Convict Innocent, Claim In Hearing At Marquette Pen

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP)—Further testimony to prove that Joseph Blazenzis who has served 14 years of a life sentence in the Marquette branch prison, is innocent of the murder of Thomas Houghton, Redford, Mich., banker killed during a holdup December 14, 1918, was submitted today by two Minneapolis women interested in the inmate's case.

Following the hearing, W. Alfred Debo, state prison and parole commissioner, said he would take the case under advisement and that he would confer in Detroit with Judge Harry J. Dingman, presiding circuit judge, who sentenced Blazenzis to life, who expressed doubt as to the prisoner's guilt. Debo also stated that he would give some consideration to the results of the "lie detector" test made on Blazenzis several months ago. The tests showed, the conductor stated, that Blazenzis was telling the truth and that he was innocent. Debo declared, however, that he would not consider the results as positive because of the long lapse of time between the Houghton murder and the test.

Blazenzis' case was one of 62 heard by Parole Commissioner Debo on his visit to the Marquette prison. It is expected that about 35 inmates will be recommended for parole. Most of them are short-termers from the upper peninsula who have completed their minimum sentences.

Debo will return to the prison in September to conduct further hearings. Blazenzis is expected to appear before the commissioner at that time.

DEPOSITORS RELIEVED

Battle Creek, Aug. 2 (AP)—All of the deposits of the City National Bank and 50 per cent of the deposits of the Old Merchants Bank will be made available to depositors when the New National Bank of Battle Creek is opened, probably on August 21. The new bank will have resources of $8,931,000, of which $3,855,000 will be cash and government bonds.

13,500 PLEDGES

Detroit, Aug. 2 (AP)—A survey today indicated that approximately 500,000 Michigan workers are now under specific protection of various codes under the National Recovery Act. They represent approximately one-third of the gainfully employed men and women in the state.

Pledges of adherence to the president's work-wage agreement have been received from 13,500 employers and A. J. Passmore, manager of the Detroit Bureau of the department of commerce, estimated that they have 100,000 employees.

The automobile code covers an estimated 165,000 factory workers. Although that code has not yet been given formal approval pending a hearing to be held within the next two weeks, wage and working hour benefits already are being made operative.

The code of the auto parts manufacturers, employing 125,000, also is awaiting formal approval.

Retail merchandising employs approximately 110,000 persons, who are under a provisional code.

Every County Joins

An accurate tabulation of 5,000 work-wage agreements received up to Monday night showed that they represented total employment of 43,119. The latter estimate of 100,000 employees is based upon the additional 8,500 agreements received.

Every county in the state is represented in the huge file of agreements in the department of commerce office.

Figures culled from the pledge file show the following employees, by cities, now working under work-wage agreements:

Adrian 298; Albion 88; Alma 67; Alpena 39; Ann Arbor 509; Battle Creek 868; Bay City 1,379; Benton Harbor 349; Cassopolis 34; Charlotte 43; Cheeseman 151; Detroit 18,721; Dearborn 68; Dowagiac 35; Fenton 61; Flint 915; Grand Haven 60; Grand Lodge 29; Grand Rapids 2,277; Greenville 78; Hamtramck 422; Hastings 86; Holland 186; Jackson 1,995; Kalamazoo 1,889; Lansing 1,459; Ludington 145; Mackinac City 57; Manistowic 139; Marquette 35; Marshall 171; Marysville 139; Menominee 641; Midland 225; Monroe 316; Mt. Clemens 378; Mt. Pleasant 65; Muskegon 499; Muskegon Heights 65;

Niles 125; Owosso 84; Petoskey 39; Pontiac 290; Port Huron 218; Rochester 82; Rockford 568; Romeo 33; Royal Oak 239; Saginaw 1,276; St. Johns 30; Sault Ste. Marie 37; South Haven 38; Sturkis 194; Three Rivers 48; Traverse City 199; White Pigeon 56; Ypsilanti 99 and Zeeland 43.

RAIL CODE PUZZLE

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—Pending a decision by the recovery administration whether railroads would be exempted or required to lineup with the shorter hours and higher wage program, authorities on rail transportation said today difficulty probably would be encountered in framing a code for these workers.

The railroads are in a different position from other industries in that their rates and charges are subject to government regulation.

Any code fixing minimum wages might run counter to existing agreements, it was said in one quarter, and it also was contended that any increase in costs might result in higher freight

Mattern's Own Photos of His Crash

James Mattern, daring around-the-world flyer who won a grim battle with death when forced down in desolate Siberia, made his own camera record of his adventure. Here are the historic pictures, exclusive with this newspaper and NEA service. Upper left, Mattern at Anadyr after his rescue, beard matted and stubbly. Upper right, in an impromptu pine-bough lean-to he built for shelter after the Century of Progress, below, was forced down and wrecked on the barren tundra.

At a time when shippers are urging a general reduction of such charges.

While commodity prices are less than 70 per cent of those of 1926, railroad rates have been maintained on about the same level as seven years ago. In fact, they have been increased in many instances by the 1931 interstate commerce commission order authorizing surcharges on a large group of commodities.

Railroad wages are subject to an agreement between the roads and the workers and only recently the wage rates, which the carriers wanted reduced, were continued until June, 1934.

Marquette Prison Hit By Pay Cuts; Commission Meets

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP)—Another cut in salaries of 10 to 12 percent will affect all employees at the Marquette branch prison, it was announced today by Warden William R. Doell, who said the revision in pay was a part of the state economy program and was put into effect as of July 1, the beginning of the fiscal year, to conform with the prison's new budget, by which it is expected to cut all expenses at the prison about 20 percent.

The warden said the entire payroll of 145 persons would be affected by the ruling.

Routine business was conducted today by the state prison commission which met at the Marquette prison. Those attending the meeting were Burnett J. Abbott, chairman; W. Alfred Debo, secretary; William S. Carpenter, and O. K. Ejetland.

Promoted CCC Men Supplant Officers

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—Members of the civilian conservation corps who have been promoted in the reforestation work from $1 a day jobs to those paying $3 to $4 a month will take over on September 1 positions of leadership in the camps.

Some 4,000 regular army officers and enlisted men are to be withdrawn from the conservation corps administrative personnel by that time and only two commissioned officers will be maintained at each camp.

Approximately 200 reserve officers will be called to active duty to fill the vacancies left by removal of regular army officers and the enlisted men who have been promoted to the better pay basis will take the places vacated by the enlisted men.

Dead In Closet; Leaves $29,500

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—Temporary letters of administration were granted today to Mrs. F. Crider, of Muskegon, Mich., in the $29,500 estate of her aunt, Mrs. Mary E. Adams, who was found dead in a clothes press when neighbors broke in after not seeing her about the home for several days. The letters were granted following upon filing of objections to the will by Miss Catherine Smith of Dearborn, Mich., a niece who was left only $1.

Young Cord Goes Into Shipbuilding

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—E. L. Cord, youthful industrialist who rose spectacularly into the limelight through his acquisition of automobile engine and airplane companies and a recent proxy fight in which he was victor, has entered a new field by obtaining control of the New York Shipbuilding corporation.

Following upon the regular directors' meeting today it was disclosed that Cord within the past ten days had purchased more than 51 per cent of the stock.

May Include Repeal

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 2 (AP)—Gov. Ruby Laffoon reiterated this afternoon that he has not definitely decided whether to include the question of prohibition repeal in his call for a special session of the general assembly for unemployment relief. The special session is expected to convene about the middle of August.

area, reaching Washington on Saturday afternoon.

After a week or ten days in Washington, they will return to Hyde Park to finish out the month of August and remain over Labor Day.

Noting carefully the progress of the national recovery campaign, the president expressed the belief that the industrial reorganization was going ahead even a little faster than expected.

He kept contact with Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, and General Hugh Johnson, industrial administrator on the developments in the strike situation in the Pennsylvania coal fields. No federal action there is contemplated.

HUGE NAVAL PROGRAM

Hyde Park, Aug. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt tonight approved plans of the navy for construction of 21 new warships in the $238,000,000 building program.

The president carefully analyzed the bids recently received by the navy and the allotments decided on by the commanders. His approval signalled an immediate start on work providing jobs for thousands in government and private shipyards.

Admiral William Standley, chief of naval operations and Rear Admiral Emory Land, chief of construction, brought the naval construction program to the summer White House by seaplane.

Mr. Roosevelt talked the plans over with his naval chiefs and after giving his approval left with them the formal announcements of assignments to yards for construction of the ships.

The start of America's huge naval construction comes just after word from Japan of the start of a building program there.

Mr. Roosevelt's ship building plan comes under the public works program and is intended to give the American fleet the strength it is allowed under existing naval limitations agreements.

Both Republicans and Democrats in congress have urged that the American fleet be built up to the terms allowed by the London agreement.

About $16,000,000 is to be expended this year and a total of $238,000,000 over three years.

Scout Jamboree Held In Hungary

Godollo, Hungary, Aug. 2 (AP)—A magnificent review of 21,000 Scouts to the ruling stand of Lord Baden-Powell, chief scout, and regent worthy of Hungary, marked the climax today to the opening of the World Boy Scout jamboree.

The Scouts had just completed their march around the half-mile arena and dashed up to the reviewing stand with waving banners in a manner to recall spectacles of medieval knighthood.

The modern note of international friendship was sounded by the regent and Lord Baden-Powell in their addresses to the boys of many nations, including nearly 400 Scouts from the United States.

The American boys, marching behind six waving flags, won a generous share of the applause accorded to all of the 37 national units.

The arena is bounded by trees on three sides. The Scouts' camp site surrounds the royal castle, 17 and a half miles from Budapest, which now is the summer residence of Regent Horthy, ruler of the kingdom.

Sand River Fires Now Under Control

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP)—Conservation officers reported today that the fire which had been burning since last Saturday at Sand River was under control and they expected no more serious difficulty with it. Already 50 fire fighters have been laid off at Sand River, but there are still about 150 men there.

The fire hazard over the weekend was alarming, according to Frank Krieg, district fire warden, but with the excellent work by fire fighters and rains Monday night most of the blazes were checked.

Merit badges were awarded to several Escanaba boys at the first period of the Boy Scout outing at Camp Harlow, which closed recently.

Those receiving badges were: Clyde Paeske, athletics and first aid; Edward Reynolds, first aid; Dale Vinette, forestry; and Leslie Kallin, personal, health and leathercraft.

Advancements were made as follows: E. J. Fitzharris, tender foot; Iver Olson, second class; Leslie Kallin, first class; Robert Amundson, first class.

Equipoise After Saratoga Purse

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—C. V. Whitney's Equipoise, nightiest of the 1933 equine champions, tomorrow will resume his campaign for leading money winning honors with the opening of a 27-day meeting at picturesque Saratoga, a track steeped in the lore of the American turf.

The five-year old son of Pennant, already winner of $294,820 and only slightly less than $82,000 short of Sun Bean's world's mark, will make his fifth start of the year in the fourth running of the Wilson stakes, a mile dash in which he will oppose six high class thoroughbreds.

62 Given Diplomas At Northern State

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP)—Asking the question, "what will you do for society?" Prof. James R. Edmonson, dean of the school of education, University of Michigan, told graduates of the Northern State Teachers college at the commencement exercises this morning the problems they must face and how they can aid the community in which they are to teach.

The speaker stated that although teachers always have had community problems to cope with, they are especially acute now and they entail a special responsibility.

Sixty-two graduates were presented by degrees or certificates by Webster H. Pearce, president of the college.

Forestry Workers Find Missing Man

Gladwin, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP)—The widespread search for Albert W. Bayles, a Columbus, Ohio, railway inspector, that began with his disappearance from his vacation camp here Monday, ended this afternoon with the finding of his body not far from a marsh fire near here. He apparently died of a heart attack.

The body was discovered by a group of youths enrolled in the Citizens Conservation Corps camp near Gladwin. They were part of a searching force that numbered more than 250 persons.

Bits of Cheer in Business

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Electric power output last week held its recent rate of gain over last year, despite indications of some seasonal recession the Edison Electric Institute reported today. Production amounted to 1,661,504,000 kilowatt hours against 1,654,424,000 in the previous week and 1,449,388 in the like 1932 period.

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—"Iron Age" today said demand for steel was "showing unexpected staying power" with the national average of steel production remaining unchanged this week at 57 per cent of capacity.

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Dun and Bradstreet today reported the smallest number of business failures last week for any week this year. The total for the week ended July 27 was 333, compared with 609 for the same period last year.

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP)—Electricity output for the Chicago district during the week ended July 29 was 97,350,000 kilowatt hours compared with 81,221,000 in the corresponding week of 1932. Commonwealth Edison company reported today. This represented an increase of 15.66 per cent.

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Three railroads today reported car loadings greatly in excess of those of corresponding periods of 1932. Chesapeake & Ohio handled 143,444 tons of freight in July compared with 95,529 a year ago. Pennsylvania railroad's loadings last week totaled 195,088 cars against 76,849 the same week last year and New York Central's figures for last week were 198,903 cars compared with 76,881 a year ago.

Youth Confesses Mutilating Boy, 7

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 2 (AP)—A youthful San Diego high school graduate was questioned by police today concerning a confession Chief of Police Harry Raymond said the youth had made that he committed the mutilation slaying of 7-year-old Dalbert Aposhian.

Chief Raymond said the youth first told his story to detectives in Los Angeles after he had been picked up in the Wilshire district there at 10 o'clock last night as a loiterer.

He was placed in jail here, but his name was withheld.

Dalbert Aposhian was missing six days before his body was found in San Diego Bay.

Shipwrecked Sailor Narcotic Fugitive

Corpus Christi, Tex., Aug. 2 (AP)—A shipwrecked sailor who gave his name as "Jack Davis," when he was rescued from a disabled sloop which grounded on the beach here after drifting in the Gulf of Mexico more than a week, told newspaper men tonight he was John A. Dunn, 33, and said he was wanted in Florida on federal charges of alien and narcotic smuggling.

A sheriff's warrant asking Davis' arrest was received here today. Sheriff Paul Cox said he was wanted in Panama City on a charge of stealing the sloop.

"Business Comes Where Invited" and stays where well treated—the old saying is as true today as ever, particularly in a bank.

The State Savings Bank believes that the good will it enjoys is due very largely to the fact that it not only has a warm and sincere welcome for new depositors, but also aims always to take a real personal interest in each patron—to serve him day after day just in the way he wants to be served.

Macdonald Reward Sent To Nashville
Flint, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP)—Sheriff Thomas Wolcott today sent a certified check for $200 to Elkin Lewis, chief of detectives in Nashville, Tenn., to be divided among the persons instrumental in capturing and identifying Ralfe Macdonald, 17-year-old accused slayer of his mother.

The reward was offered personally by the sheriff when the search for Ralfe apparently lagged, a few days after the body of his mother, Mrs. Grace Macdonald, was found in her home. It was nearly two weeks after the slaying that the boy was identified in Nashville. He is awaiting trial here on a murder charge.

OUSTED CLERK KNOWN HERE

LaFountain Once Worked With Ford River Lumber Company

John B. LaFountain, chief clerk in the auditor general's department for the last 24 years, who was released by Auditor General John K. Stack this week, is a former resident of Ford River. He worked in the offices of the Ford River Lumber company for several years and when O. B. Fuller was elected auditor general he went to Lansing to work in his department. Franklin L. Dodge, Lansing and Robert Russell, former Escanaba, will share Mr. LaFountain's duties.

Dodge, a former federal prohibition investigator, recently completed a federal sentence for perjury. He was convicted in Atlanta after conducting a campaign there to rid the city of a bootlegging ring. He also figured prominently in the affairs of George Remus, former Cincinnati bootlegger. Remus shot his wife, charging she had been friendly with Dodge, who aided in sending the bootlegger to prison on a federal charge.

Dodge is a member of an old prominent family of Lansing, related to the Dodge brothers, who have been identified with automobile manufacturing in Detroit for many years. The Stack family now resides at a large home in Lansing, owned by the Dodge family.

Russell, the other appointee, lived for several months in Escanaba. He was engaged as a radio distributor in the upper peninsula, and a short time ago was promoting amateur boxing shows under the auspices of the American Legion.

Appointment of Dodge by Auditor General Stack has aroused much comment throughout the state. Some observers believe that the auditor general has made an unwise political move by giving the state job to a former convict.

Dr. Wriston Will Address Kiwanis Meet

Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., will be one of the principal speakers at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Upper Michigan district of Kiwanis International to be held in Escanaba, August 6 to 8.

Dr. Wriston will speak at the noon luncheon meeting to be held at the Delta hotel next Monday. The biographical statement, which appears in Who's Who in America, shows that Dr. Wriston was graduated with the Bachelor of Arts degree from Wesleyan university, Connecticut, in 1911, and received the Master of Arts degree from Wesleyan the following year.

Study in the graduate school of letters and sciences there won for him the Doctor of Philosophy degree in 1922. His doctor's dissertation, a study of the role of executive agents in American foreign relations, won the coveted Toppan prize, given annually for the best doctoral thesis on a subject in the field of political science.

During the years from 1914 to 1925, Dr. Wriston held successive appointments on the faculty of Wesleyan university as instructor, associate professor and professor of history, finally holding, while at the age of 30, the chair of history, once held by Woodrow Wilson.

Became President in 1925.

Unusual academic honor came to him in 1923-24 when he was invited to Johns Hopkins university as the Albert Shaw lecturer. In 1925, Dr. Wriston was invited to succeed the late Samuel Plantz as president of Lawrence college. In this capacity he has inaugurated several innovations in collegiate education which have merited nationwide interest. Development of a unique program of educational and vocational guidance has been one of these projects, as have experiments in adult education, art appreciation and extensive testing programs. In 1929 he was made director of the newly organized Institute of Paper Chemistry, a graduate school affiliated with Lawrence college.

Wrote Several Books

Dr. Wriston is a member of the American Historical association, the American Political Science association, American Society International Law, Delta Tau Delta, Delta Sigma Rho and Phi Beta Kappa. In 1918 he wrote "War Chest Practice," and in 1919, "Report of Connecticut State Council of Defense." In 1929 his doctor's dissertation and Albert Shaw lectures were published in complete form as a volume entitled, "Executive Agents in American Foreign Relations."

In recognition of his outstanding position as educator, author and scholar, Ripon college conferred upon him the degree of LL. D. in 1923, and Wesleyan university, the degree of LL. D. in 1931. Dr. Wriston is a trustee of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. He is also president of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for the year 1933-34.

Brown Reception To Be Postponed

In a telegram received yesterday by Chairman R. H. Wright from Congressman Prentiss M. Brown from Boone, Iowa, Mr. Brown states that he has been called to Washington and will be there attending to official business on August 8. This was the date that he was to have come to Munising, therefore the reception that was to have been held in his honor will have to be postponed to a later date. In his message he states that he will give Munising a later date.

PIONEER MEETING

A meeting of the Alger County Pioneer association was held Tuesday evening at the Legion County club. The following named officials were elected for the ensuing year: President — Harry Simmons. First Vice President — James Murphy. Second Vice President — James Hosking. Secretary — Charles Ames.

Neither the time nor place was named for the picnic to be held this year. The meeting was called particularly for that purpose, according to cards sent out, but some of the members of the association could not make an immediate decision and the matter was left to the committee on arrangements. With instructions to report as soon as possible, L. C. Clapp of the Redwood resort on Au Train lake, invited the association to meet at his resort. The following named were appointed a committee on arrangements with authority to select a place and fix the date and time for the picnic: Henry Gollinger, Ole Hanson, A. E. Oswald, Louis Pelletier.

MUNISING BRIEFS

George Kallio, secretary of the Rock River township board of education, was a business visitor in the city yesterday. Iver Samuelson of Chatham was in the city yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Octave Perry were visitors at Escanaba yesterday. William Montealm is seriously ill at the Munising hospital and it is feared that one leg will have to be amputated.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Masters leave today for Houghton to attend the governor's ball and the banquet. There will be several others from Munising and Alger county who will attend the meetings.

Mrs. David Fuller is dangerously ill at her home in this city, her condition having become critical yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sharkey left this week for Rochester, Minn., where Mr. Sharkey will receive treatment.

Campers Advised To Throw Nothing Into The Streams

Lansing—The safest thing for a camper to do to avoid polluting waters in the vicinity of his camp, and to avoid difficulty with the local officers is to throw nothing in the water, the Conservation department is advising summer cottagers and campers and all others who make use of Michigan waters.

While the amount of polluting refuse a single camp might cause, would seem negligible, if all campers were unregulated as to what might be thrown into a lake or stream it might mean the loss of many fish, the department said.

Michigan law has been as inclusive as possible in determining what might not be thrown into public waters. Putrid brine, putrid fish, offal, blood, sand, coal, cinders, ashes, log slabs, decayed wood, bark, sawdust or filth of any description that would tend to injure or kill any fish are legally banned from Michigan waters and offenders are subject to a severe penalty the conservation department points out.

The same law forbids cleaning fish in the water and throwing the offal into the water. It also demands that all fish, offal or filth of any description accruing from the catching and curing of fish, be burned or buried at least ten rods from the beach or shore of any stream, pond or lake.

Roosevelt Has Not Fixed His Money Policy

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—One school of economists believes that the best possible monetary policy at this time is no monetary policy at all. There are reasons to believe that Roosevelt has been taking advice from that school.

He has vast powers for inflation of currency which he has not used. Some time ago he let it be known that he was figuring on a return to the 1926 price level and his decision to refuse to participate in currency stabilization at London was explained in a way to confirm that intention. Prices shot up in anticipation. But they paid no attention to purchasing power. Economists here—there are hundreds of them—went into agitated huddles. That development simply didn't square with the big recovery campaign. The economists felt that Roosevelt, by dwelling on the 1926 price level, was queering his own game.

No Plan at Present

Some of them told him that, diplomatically. He should have no policy until the recovery program had been worked out—or, at least, should pretend he had none. Meanwhile, the administration was being forced to call for the NRA blanket code in an effort to avert the crash that was threatened by the yawning gap between production and prices on one hand and payrolls on the other.

Roosevelt has flirted with various currency plans, but the best information is that he is at present embracing none. Recently, after he had denied reports that he was about to devalue the dollar, a correspondent asked him for confidential advice as to what might be expected. Roosevelt laughed and replied:

"If you asked me to write a story about it for you, I couldn't write it myself. There just ain't no story!"

NRA Stamps to Be Issued

You will be putting especially issued NRA three-cent stamps on your letters very shortly now. The stamp will be oblong-shaped and will show the "NRA" initials in large size with an engraving of figures representing capital, labor, government and consumers marching into the foreground. Andrew W. Mellon's aluminum industry had a bright idea. It would bring in a code with the suggestion that no hearings on it need be held. The idea was brought to Washington, but it never got beyond home plate.

An Example of Speed

Everything goes so rapidly here these days that no one pretends to be able to keep track of it all. But probably the speediest performance is that of the treasury's colored messenger boys as they cover up their race track sheets with newspapers whenever anyone approaches their desks in the corridors.

Someone was asking the other day: What's become of Gen. Lincoln Andrews, Roy Haynes, Amos Woodcock and the other fellows who used to be national prohibition administrators?

ABUNDANCE OF FOWL UNKNOWN

Conflicting Opinions in State Registered by Sportsmen

Lansing—Although waterfowl in Michigan's waters and marshes are marshes are fairly abundant, there is no uniform opinion among approximately 200 conservation officers and other observers that there are more birds now than a year ago.

Information was obtained and compiled by the Game Division of the Department of Conservation as the basis for recommendations to the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey. The information will be used to some extent by the Federal Migratory Bird Advisory Board in determining the length of the 1933 federal duck and goose hunting season.

Conditions last fall were generally better than they were the previous year, the reports indicate, but there was a conflicting opinion as to the abundance of birds left over at the end of the season. Some local areas indicated about half as many geese in the spring flight, while other areas seemed to have the same number or even a considerable increase. The majority of advisors reported that the spring flights of ducks with the exception of the ruddy duck was about the same as the 1932 spring flight or slightly better.

The majority of opinions were that last year's season and bag limits were fairly satisfactory but that if any change were made it should be to decrease the bag limit.

DEATH CLAIMS M. BARKHURST

Iron Mt. Man Passes Away in Local Hospital

Marshall F. Barkhurst, 25, of Iron Mountain, son of Mrs. Millie Barkhurst, formerly Millie Grenier of this city, and the late Frank Barkhurst, passed away at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The young man was taken ill May 1, 1929, suffering a nervous breakdown, and he never fully regained his health. He was admitted to St. Francis hospital on May 29, seriously ill, and his death, which was not unexpected, members of the family having been called here, came Wednesday afternoon.

He was born in Escanaba, April 29, 1898, and was graduated from St. Anne's school of this city. He entered Iron Mountain high school when the family moved to that city, completing his high school work there, and later attended the Iron Mountain Business college. Later at the time the family lived in Milwaukee he was employed by the Milwaukee Gas company, holding that position until he became ill.

He is survived by his mother and one sister, Arleen Blanche, both of Iron Mountain.

The body was taken to the Allie Funeral Home to be prepared for burial. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at a solemn requiem high mass at St. Anne's church. Burial will be in St. Anne's cemetery beside the body of his father who died July 12, 1929.

Mr. Barkhurst was a member of St. Joseph's parish of Iron Mountain and of the Holy Name society of that church.

According to estimates, each person in the United States eats on an average of 58 oranges, five grapefruit and 16 lemons annually.

was generally good last year according to the reports, but many "green" hunters were unable to distinguish the protected ducks from those they were permitted to shoot.

The Federal Migratory Bird Advisory Board will meet this month to determine the length of the 1933 season and the other federal regulations.

AN ENTIRELY NEW
AT THE PRICE OF REGULAR

There have been "One-Feature" and "Two-Feature" Gasolines before . . .
NOW HERE'S A SEVEN-FEATURE GASOLINE...

It's no easy thing to produce a motor fuel like the new Standard Red Crown . . . a motor fuel without any "blank spots" . . . and still price it no higher than "regular" gasoline.

The problem is not how to produce a higher anti-knock gasoline . . . or a quicker starting gasoline . . . or a longer mileage gasoline . . . or a gum-free, sulphur-free gasoline. It's a problem of combining all these desirable qualities . . . of pushing each forward without sacrificing any of the others. And that's exactly what Standard Oil refining engineers have done.

Try five gallons or more of this sparkling new wine-colored motor fuel. See if you don't notice a difference!

TO SELL PLANT

A DEFINITE move looking to the final disposal of Michigan's chief industrial football, the Chelsea cement plant, has been taken by the state administration. Although no one could be found who would admit responsibility for the inserting of advertisements in lower peninsula newspapers, calling for bids for the plant, the bids are out and it seems that the state is in a fair way to get rid of an institution that has probably been the source of more discussion than any other factor in the state government. Authority for the sale of the Chelsea plant was given by the state legislature of 1930-31 and while members of the state administrative board and members of the state prison commission, denied responsibility for making a definite move to comply with the instructions of the legislature, it will likely be found that Burnett J. Abbott, secretary of the administrative board and chairman of the prison committee, has led the way in seeking to remove the cement plant from state ownership.

The plant was purchased during the administration of Ex-Gov. Alex Groesbeck and the success or failure of the experiment was one of the principal issues in the campaign when Former Gov. Fred W. Green defeated Mr. Groesbeck for the gubernatorial nomination. In every campaign since that time state ownership of the Chelsea plant has bobbed up as an issue and the people of the state are pretty well convinced today that if there was any reason for the establishment of the plant in the first instance that reason has now disappeared. The operation of the plant has cost the state of Michigan a lot of money and if the state can find a purchaser, at anything approaching a suitable price, it will be generally agreed that Michigan will be well rid of a thoroughly troublesome institution.

TO SPLIT FUND

LOCAL units of government in Michigan are shortly to receive their share of approximately $350,000 derived from the sale of beer permits, since Michigan's beer law became effective, according to an announcement at Lansing by the state liquor commission. Of the amount paid in by individuals and corporations for beer handling licenses, the state law provides that 95 per cent of the fund shall be returned to the local units of government in which the licenses are issued. Since the operation of the law this fund has been accumulating at Lansing and preparations are now being made for its disbursement.

It is estimated that approximately one half of this fund will go to Detroit and Wayne county, because approximately half of the beer handling licenses were issued in that area, but all cities, villages and townships will receive a cut, in proportion to the number of licenses now in force.

It will be new money from a source wholly unexpected a year ago.

BETTER GO SLOWLY

THE campaign to raise the level of wages and distribute employment more widely which President Roosevelt has initiated calls for whole-hearted and sympathetic co-operation from every American. Its objective is admirable, and his direct manner of attacking the problem stirs pride and enthusiasm.

The cheers with which the drive gets under way, however, may constitute a danger which will imperil the success of the plan later. The President and his advisers must be careful not to push ahead too fast, lest they cause breakdowns in vital parts of the industrial machine.

The question of organized labor is one that cannot be passed over with a rush. There is some evidence that labor has laid plans to capitalize the situation in which it finds itself by making demands in certain fields which employers cannot grant and continue to exist.

Vast economic changes take time to accomplish; industry if it is to meet the new conditions outlined in the National Recovery Plan must do so successfully, or else all the work will be in vain. That means there must be reasonable co-operation between employers and employees through efforts to furnish better work in return for better wages, and increase productivity as an offset to increased costs.

The danger is that organized incitement of public support for the plan will raise enthusiasm to such heights that basic facts will be lost sight of. The excitement aroused by a high-pressure sales drive may produce demands impossible to satisfy over night, demands which never would be voiced in a calm moment.

The President has set in motion a tremendous agency of public sentiment which must be guided with great caution if it is to work benefit and not destruction. There is no question that his purposes are highly commendable, that his plan will attract universal support, and that it may succeed. The chances of success will be greatly increased, we think, if he takes care to moderate and control the forces he has aroused, to prevent excesses of action or feeling, and above all, if he consents to make haste slowly.

THE FOREST ARMY

GOOD reports come from the 1428 camps scattered over the country in which some 300,000 youths are enrolled in the Civilian Conservation Corps.

These amateur foresters, according to Maj. Schweitzer who addressed the Escanaba Rotary club on Monday, are earning their keep in improving the nation's forests by building roads and bridges, clearing underbrush, protecting the forests against fire and pests, and performing other useful tasks.

In addition, the young men, most of whom otherwise would be idle, are engaged in healthful outdoor work, and seem to be having a pretty good time of it. The government is spending about $20,000,000 a month in maintaining the corps, but most of this is sent to the families of the workers, who have been on relief rolls.

The forest army was originally enlisted for six months, but unless Congress objects, will be kept at work until spring because of the good showing that has been made.

GAS AND HAMBURGER

JAMES MATTERN dropped in from the skies upon Sault Ste. Marie Saturday afternoon, "for gasoline and a hamburger," thus adding the name of a Michigan town, already known to travelers for the locks at "the Soo," to those which appear and disappear in the news when flying conditions are right and aviators are seeking records. Since the courses chosen by aviators are governed by other conditions than those which direct railroad routes or motor highways, any little community anywhere in the world may suddenly find itself a place of at least momentary importance because some well known birdman has alighted there temporarily. Meanwhile the world's knowledge of geography becomes dramatized by these incidents and once meaningless place names tend to become fixed in the memory as globe-grubbing by air makes the world smaller.

THAT STRAW HAT PROBLEM

AS IF the world was not borne down enough by weighty problems, this is the season of the year when to everyone comes the moment when he must decide what to do about his straw hat. The chances are that going in to August, that straw hat is not what it used to be. It's a little soiled to begin with. There are faint gray streaks under the scales of the brim. The band frays distressfully along the edge of the bow. The brim is a little floppy from the after-effects of that rain storm that descended, unannounced at that June picnic.

What's to be done? Many a man's reason has trembled on the edge from contemplating less weighty items than this. Get it cleaned? All right so far as

CHAPTER XLV

Elinor broke the silence. She said in a hesitating, uncertain tone, "Barrett—"

He turned toward her. "Yes?" he answered.

"Do you want—very much—to go on that expedition?"

"No, but I thought—perhaps you'd rather have me out of the way. That was the only reason I considered it."

"I'd rather you didn't go," she said slowly.

"Oh, Elinor!" He had risen and stood with eager, pleading eyes fixed on hers.

But she was not yet ready to tell him the truth—that she loved him and wanted his happiness more than her own, that she wanted him near when their child was born.

"I think you ought to become better acquainted with your boy—with Gerald," she said, her voice hard again.

"You mean that I should be with you in the country?" he questioned quickly.

"Yes. Don't you think so?"

"If it won't bother you to have me there," he said slowly. For a moment he had hoped for so much more than that. He added, still in that weary tone, "I love you more deeply than you'll ever know, Elinor. The one thing I want is your happiness."

Then quickly he left the room. Elinor cried stormily, sitting huddled in the big chair which made her look so small. For the first time since her mother had told her about Barrett's ward, shame prompted some of those tears. She was small, she knew. Small! And she could not seem to help being so. If she stretched a hand toward Barrett, she would see another misty hand go out to him. If she dreamed of kissing him again she saw another woman held close in his arms.

She groped her way upstairs later and for a time in her room stood by the closed door, wanting to open it. She wanted desperately to say to Barrett, "I love you, I love you! I want you to be happy. That's all that matters."

But she could not do it.

Days passed in which Elinor shopped to equip the new house in the country. She began this task eagerly, glad to have something to occupy her time, something to think about. Soon, however, that first interest paled. She could not take heart in furnishing a home where Barrett and she were to meet as strangers. And she could not forget the misery in her heart while salesmen and women displayed draperies, furniture and rugs.

Bessie Thrope came to the rescue. Bessie was constantly at hand with helpful advice. For her shopping expeditions were a source of delight that would have been quite complete if Bessie had not been worried about Elinor. She didn't like the girl's listlessness and disinterest. It wasn't anything that one could talk about and that made the situation worse.

Small Gerald arrived to take his place in the household and, from the moment she first saw him, Elinor's heart warmed toward the child. He, at least, was in no way responsible for the state of affairs.

All three of them went out to the home in the country. Higgins went with them and soon had the household routine running smoothly and efficiently. There were duties to occupy much of Elinor's time, hours she spent with Bessie and hours with Gerald. A small room on the ground floor had been fitted up as a study for Barrett and he did much of his work there, though he drove to the city frequently.

One evening after a long day of work at his desk he wandered to the porch at the side of the house where Gerald, with Elinor's help, was making a fish net from some bits of string. Just as with human relations, the string would tangle disastrously now and then.

"Sexton and I are going fishing tomorrow," Gerald told him, "and Aunt Elinor's helping me make this net." He was struggling over it and his speech slowed with the struggle.

Barrett looked down at the work and workers, his heart touched. Elinor had done so much for the small boy. He was like a different child since they had come here and he adored Elinor.

From down the hill Sexton whistled a bobwhite call, the boys' secret signal which half the neighborhood understood perfectly.

Gerald was up in an instant. "It's Sexton," he said eagerly. "May I go, Aunt Elinor? We have to dig bait!"

"Of course, dear," she answered, "but be back in time to make yourself tidy for dinner."

He kissed her, made a pugnacious, boyish pass at Barrett and was off, whooping down the hillside.

The strain settled that always appeared when Gerald left them alone together.

"May I sit down?" Barrett asked. "I want to talk to you about something."

"Do," she said, head bent above the net.

"I wondered if you wouldn't like to ask Bob Telford out for some week end—or perhaps longer," he suggested. It wasn't easy but he had done it! Thank God.

"What's your objection?"

"I don't quite approve, that's all I can say."

"A dozen men have done that way."

"Of course that doesn't make it right."

"But don't you ever compromise?"

"Not with my conscience," he replies.

COMPROMISE

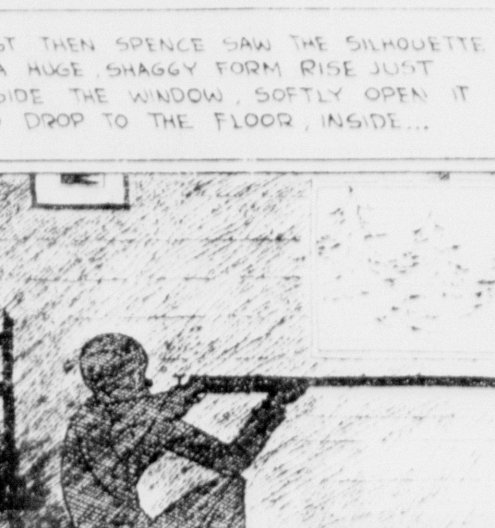

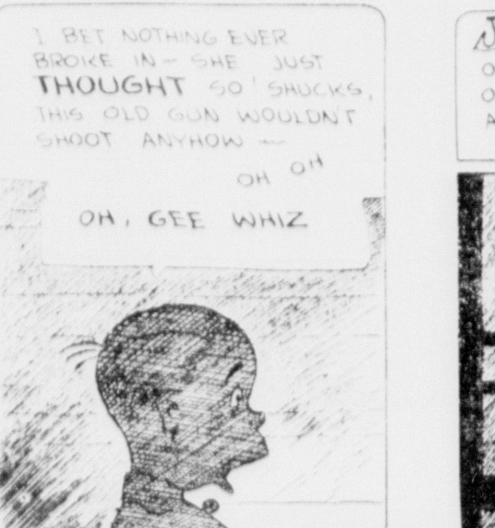

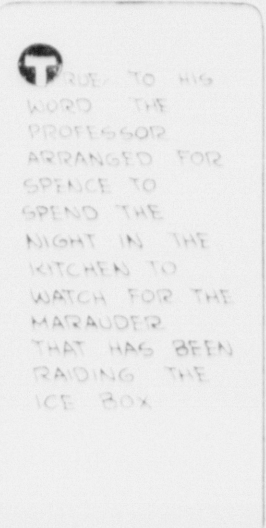

He said, "I cannot."
"Cannot why?"
"Because I cannot, that is all."
"And yet the matter is so small."
"To me the matter's mountain-high."
"It really is a small affair—"
"Who cares?"
He answered, "I would care."
"But won't you do it for a friend?"
"A friend would never ask me to, Or he's no friend."
"You mean that you—"
"Would rather have our friendship end, However much a friend I want."
"Why can't you, then?"
"Because I can't."
"What's your objection?"
"I don't quite approve, that's all I can say."
"A dozen men have done that way."
"Of course that doesn't make it right."
"But don't you ever compromise?"
"Not with my conscience," he replies.

Weather conditions in the month of July for this district were unusual only by an abundance of rainfall, according to the weather summary issued by Vincent E. Jaki, in charge of the local station. The total precipitation for the month was 4.87 inches, or an excess over normal of 1.53 inches.

During the month of July 650,000 tons of ore were shipped through the North Western docks, 175,000 tons through the St. Paul docks at this port.

According to tentative plans of the charter commission, engaged in framing a commission charter, it will be proposed that Escanaba shall be ruled by a mayor and two commissioners.

The Misses Josephine Loeffler, Josephine Walsh and Carrie Seemer have left for a ten days' visit at Washington Island.

Miss Elizabeth Crawford and her nephew, Master James O'Hanley, have returned from a camping trip at Maywood.

Members of the F. E. club, organized by three of Escanaba's most popular young men, William Fitzsimmons, W. N. Riley and James Connahan, have issued invitations for a dancing party to be given at Clark's hall.

Miss Guida Berigan, reporter for the Daily Mirror, has left for a vacation trip to Milwaukee and Chicago.

Mrs. H. J. Robertson and daughter Mona, together with Lillian Hoyer and Miss Aretha Cornell, of Cincinnati, have left for an extended lake trip aboard the steamer Louis Davidson.

K. C. TO HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

Outing To Be Held at South Park Sunday, August 13

The Knights of Columbus annual picnic will be held on Sunday, August 13, at South Park. It was announced Wednesday.

Extensive preparations for the entertainment of a large crowd are being made and it is expected that the outing, to which the public is invited, will be one of the biggest of the season.

A series of contests are being arranged by John Manning. There will be free dancing in the pavilion from 3 to 6 o'clock. The Collegians will play the dance program.

Families are asked to take their own basket lunches and are invited to spend the day at the park.

Dr. Fred J. Hira is general chairman. Chairmen of the various committees are Fred Boddy, James Frenn, John Manning, Robert Raymond and Con Gallagher.

ROCK

Rock, Mich.—Henry Jokela returned Monday from Chicago where he visited the Century of Progress exposition as guest of his sisters, Misses Esther and Martha Jokela.

Miss Margaret Bridges left for Chicago on Sunday after spending several days here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bridges.

A son was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. August Larson Jr. at the St. Francis hospital in Escanaba. Misses Toini and Aileen Turunen arrived here Tuesday from Chicago to spend two weeks at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Turunen.

Mrs. Frank Hockl left Sunday evening for her home in Chicago after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. William Cook for the past week. Leslie Timonen and Dick Grande, of Detroit, arrived here to spend several days with Mrs. Victor Salmi, Mr. and Mrs. John Turunen and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ramseth returned to their home here Sunday after several days visit with relatives in Pulaski, Wis.

Ernest Blomquist left Sunday for Chicago, after attending the silver wedding anniversary celebration in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson at the latter's home Sunday.

Miss Josephine Work of Escanaba, teacher in the Central school here, spent Saturday here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carlson.

Mrs. Phil Belford of Detroit is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Manntle. Mrs. Belford was formerly Miss Edna Manntle.

Miss Lydia Ranta of Chicago, is spending several days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ranta.

Mrs. Everett Bjork, of Gwinn, visited here Saturday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hanselmann and son Robert, and Mrs. Margaret Cook, of Chicago, left Thursday for their homes after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. William Cook here. They were accompanied to Chicago by Robert Bailey, who will view the Century of Progress exposition.

Miss Claire Bridges returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bridges, after an extended visit with Miss Agnes Loupa, of Chatham.

Miss Minnie Erickson of Escanaba visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bailey here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ronkkonen and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salmi are attending the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago.

Harvey Pilon left Friday for Green Bay, having been called by the critical illness of his father, D. C. Pilon.

AMUSEMENTS

John Barrymore cuts a wide swath to greater popularity as the mad, impulsive, irresistible and stormy Hagenburg who returns from banishment to renew the memory of kisses that lingered after Vienna's glory faded.

As the dashing hero of Robert E. Sherwood's "Reunion in Vienna," Barrymore gives the most engaging role of his entire career. In the new Metro-Goldwyn-Playa feature, which opened at the Delft Theatre, Barrymore has an ideal characterization that matches his individual talents and personality as though tailored to his measure by the author, Robert E. Sherwood.

Diana Wynyard acquits herself none the less brilliantly as the lady for whose kisses the exiled archduke pines. She radiates a warm humanness in the role and manages to retain a certain regal refinement, even in moments demanding a yielding common to women of lesser dignity. Miss Wynyard has a freshness and new charm that appears welcome on the screen. That she is a gifted actress, besides being merely a beautiful woman, is conceded by the most critical audiences, if only for her "Cavalcade" performance.

Blueberry Crop Hard Hit by Frost, Drought

BY H. HEAFIELD

Garden, Mich., July 21.—The annual "trek" from the Garden-Cooks blueberry plains to the more extensive plains around Seney and points north and east of this little village, has already commenced, this year considerably ahead of schedule.

The Garden berries ripen much earlier than do those of the great plains north. This is due largely to the fact that the Garden Peninsula's climatic condition is greatly tempered by the surrounding waters of Big Bay De Noc and Lake Michigan.

In a normal year, this is a great advantage to Garden pickers, enabling them to pick their harvest of "blue gold" before the larger crop of northern berries come upon the market, resulting in lower prices. However, in a year such as the present, it is a decided disadvantage.

In a general throughout the Upper Peninsula, destroyed most of the fruit on the Garden Peninsula just as it was setting nicely. The plains adjacent to the village of Garden suffered most from these June frosts due to the fact that the modifying effects of the nearby bodies of water had already hastened the development of the plants in that particular area.

In a normal season thousands of crates are shipped from this very limited acreage but, so far as is known, no fruit has been picked here this season beyond a very few quarts for home use. Only a few miles north, close to the village of Cooks, and further away from the influence of the water, the plants were not so far advanced at the time of the frosts so that not so much damage was done. In this area, picking has been progressing for several weeks and is just about completed. A Cooks buyer stated yesterday that he does not expect his shipments to exceed five hundred crates whereas in a normal year he ships between seven and eight thousand crates.

Besides the aforementioned buyer, several other buyers operate in the Cooks field so that even in this sub-normal year the entire production will run into several thousands. This crop was limited, not only by the late frosts, but by the subsequent, prolonged drought, which scorched the plains with blistering heat.

Various reports have declared that the crops on the Fox River, Whitefish, Driggs, and other adjacent plains is a failure on account of June frosts. As a result of several days actual experience on the plains, and interviews with numerous pickers and buyers, it is the opinion of the writer that these statements of frost damage should be somewhat modified. It is his opinion that at the time the June frosts came, destroying practically all the earlier developed fruit on the Garden plains, and a less amount on the Cooks plains, the plants on the Whitefish, Fox River and Driggs plains were not far enough advanced to suffer serious effects of these same frosts. If any fruit at all were killed, it would serve the same purpose as thinning out a badly crowded apple tree. In this case, it was not the frost but the long period of drought which did the damage.

In these sections mentioned, which take in a large part of Alger county, a vast "no man's land" stretching nearly twenty miles north and south and nearly as far east and west, berries are abundant. Acres and acres will never be picked by the hand of man. With scarcely an exception, when asked how the berries are, pickers will reply, "Plenty of berries but small." The day of fabulous earnings on the blueberry fields has gone. A good day's picking varies from eight up to twelve quarts with very few exceeding this figure. At present prices of $1.25 per crate one can figure the average earning. Local hotels advertise widely the good meals they furnish for 50c and one wonders how far the pickers would get if they patronized the hotels. One family recently interviewed stated that they had seven crates the proceeds of a day and a half picking, which seemed to be a successful venture but it was learned that all counted, mother and dad, and the kids, twelve pickers were on the job.

It is difficult to get a correct figure as to those picking. Estimates vary from two to five thousand souls. It is the general opinion that not quite as many are present as in a normal season. A cosmopolitan lot are these berry pickers. A group of men of foreign extraction came all the way from Duluth, Minn. The various railroads are doing much good in allowing these men to ride upon their freight trains. It may be contrary to regulations, but, it helps the men to earn a little. Another group came from Detroit in similar manner. Bay City, Saginaw, Iron Mountain, Escanaba and many other cities are represented in the Seney district. How did you get here? was a common question and the answer was just about as common for this particular section of camp. It was "freight." Birds of a feather flock together and these men had their camp all together near the bank of the Fox River. Their dwellings are crude affairs. A few poles, some brush thrown over a gunny sack for a door and marsh hay for a bed. Some of them leak like a sieve while others are proof against an ordinary shower. Most of them are just large enough for one man to crawl in and lie down. When they are through picking this fall, they will leave camp as it stands, in the hope that next year when the season opens, it will be intact and ready for occupancy. Perhaps a little remodeling will be necessary before they can take possession. These would make admirable dens for winter quarters for bears. Housekeeping equipment is very limited. A couple of tin cans spaced about eighteen inches from two others, a couple of bars placed across and the best possible outdoor fireplace is available. Much cooking is done on these primitive stoves. The evening meal is a great occasion and a time for gladness after the day's work. Salt pork, potatoes, eggs, and sauerkraut were favorites. One man made a bowl of blueberry soup which was apparently quite appetizing. After supper the men would sit around their camp fires and discuss the events of the day, the success or otherwise of their ventures, the latest price development, or anything else under the sun. Occasionally the suggestion is made that all hold their berries for a certain price but a lack of coherent effort prevents any real development along these lines and every man wanted to handle his day's earnings before he goes to bed.

One small group spent the evening playing poker, and if a part of the group went to bed happy in the knowledge that the day's income had been doubled, the other members of the group were correspondingly unhappy in the knowledge that their net income was nil. Poles, Russians and Germans were conspicuous in this particular camp, representing the flotilla and jetsam of life. Not a woman was present in this entire camp. In spite of the fact that many of these men cursed the stars under which they were born, and spoke in ungentlemanly and impolite terms of the conditions which compelled them to toil so hard and so long for so little pay, they were a well behaved crowd and none were seen in quarrelsome or fighting mood or under the influence of alcohol.

In other sections of the plains are temporary villages of a different type. Here are whole families who drove in with their own equipment in their own cars. Most of these are the owners of tents and a little wider range of equipment. Some of these came for the whole season desirous of making as much cash as possible. Others come to enjoy a cheap vacation and take back their winter's supply of "blue gold." Still others are tourists in comfortable circumstances, passing through the district and pausing for a few hours, or a day, to see life as it is here. On one particular day, car licenses were observed from eighteen different states. The effects of recent lean years were seen throughout the entire districts. No elaborate camping equipment was seen. Everybody seemed to be getting along with as little expense as possible.

Then there are the buyers. Several were seen to field all of the time. These hailed from Marquette, Wis., Escanaba, Kipling, Mich., and other cities. Others come in for a day or two and leave. Those remaining during the entire year established their quarters in a convenient location and carry on their business. A conservative estimate of the output of the Seney district is several thousand crates daily. Several temporary retail stores are established where pickers can get their regular chew of tobacco and a limited range of other articles considered of vital importance to such a life. In these quarters, one sees an occasional guitar, or other musical instrument. One seldom dances after a day's work picking berries but often young and old gather around the camp fire in the cool of the evening, and sit and listen to the occasional instrumental and vocal selections.

It is an uplifting experience to be around a blueberry camp at such a time. After the terrific heat and toil of the day, all is peace. The smoke ascending from dozens of camp fires adds glamor to the scene. It is a hard life but there are a few compensating features.

Within a few weeks after the last blueberry picker has left another army, totally different, appears. This vast territory north and east of Seney is the rendezvous of thousands of hunters who come annually for sport and for pleasure. But that is another story.

Put Smoke Butts In A Tobacco Can

Lansing.—If it is only an empty tobacco can, carry something in the car to receive cigarette and cigar ashes and butts, the Conservation Department is urging vacationists who go to the northern part of the state. Careless smokers are causing half of Michigan's forest fires.

OBITUARY

NICHOLAS BRITZ

Funeral services for Nicholas Britz, well known Delta county pioneer, who died Sunday afternoon, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the chapel of the Alto Funeral Home. Rev. Thomas Foster, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, officiating.

The services will be in charge of Escanaba Lodge, Number 352, B. P. O. E., and the Elks rites will be conducted during them.

Burial will be in St. Joseph cemetery. Pallbearers are A. F. Alex, Herman Lonsner, Michael A. Walsh, Herman Gessner, Coleman Nee and Gust Asp.

MRS. EMMA QUIST

The body of Mrs. Emma Christina Quist, who died Tuesday night after a long illness, will remain at the Anderson Funeral Home. Funeral services will be held there Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. C. A. Lund of Bethany Lutheran church officiating and burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

MRS. HILDA HOLMGREN

Funeral services for Mrs. Hilda Holmgren, 69, Escanaba pioneer, who died Saturday, were held Wednesday afternoon.

Services in the Swedish language were held at 2 o'clock in the parlors of the Anderson Funeral Home, where the body lay in the summer room which was banked with beautiful flowers, tributes of old friends from all parts of the community.

Rev. C. A. Lund of Bethany Lutheran church, who officiated, read the twenty-third Psalm, and C. Arthur Anderson sang the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee."

The services at Bethany Lutheran church followed at 2:30 o'clock, and these services were in English. Rev. Mr. Lund preached the funeral sermon, taking his text from St. John, Chapter 14, Verses 1 to 11. Music of the church service included a solo, "I've Done My Work," by C. Arthur Anderson. Mrs. Victor Anderson playing the organ accompaniment and a duet, "My Heart is Yearning Ever," by Mrs. Victor Anderson and Mrs. Lund.

At the close of the services burial was made in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery. Pallbearers were Andrew Monson, John Kahlow, Paul Jaeger, Andrew Peterson, Hugo Larson and P. N. Haigren. Out-of-town relatives at the services were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ohlson of Chicago, Mrs. Ohlson, daughter of Mrs. Holmgren.

MRS. EMMA PETERSON

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Charlotte Peterson, a resident of Escanaba for 50 years, who died Monday, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Anderson Funeral Home and at 2:15 o'clock at the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. Karl J. Hammar officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

ALUMNI CLUB ELECTS HALL

Manistique Man Honored at Meeting of U. of
M. Group

A. F. Hall, superintendent of Manistique public schools, was elected president of the University of Michigan Clubs of the Upper Peninsula at the annual meeting held at the Ludington hotel yesterday.

A. F. HALL

Other officers named were: Director for three years, H. L. Mead, Menominee; vice-president, Charles M. Humphrey, Jr., Ironwood; and secretary-treasurer, Herbert J. Potter, Ishpeming.

About fifty members and guests attended the luncheon meeting, and heard two interesting addresses by T. Hawley Tapping, executive secretary of the University of Michigan Alumni Association, and Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner. Atty. A. H. Ryall, Escanaba, past district director, presided at the meeting.

Although the budget has been reduced by $900,000 the University of Michigan will go on serving the students and people of Michigan in keeping with its past traditions, Mr. Tapping declared. Some research projects may have to be temporarily abandoned and members of the faculty will be forced to assume added teaching burdens, he explained, but the high standards will be maintained. After discussing at length the financial situation of the university, he told of various other activities at the institution, predicting that there would be an increased enrollment next fall and also that Michigan would have a good football team.

Leges Cooperative Plan

Inclusion of the cooperative plan of education in the program of the University of Michigan, such as being offered at the University of Cincinnati and a few other colleges, was advocated by State Highway Commissioner Van Wagoner. He stated that he believed there was a need for giving students an opportunity to make practical application of theoretical knowledge while attending school. The highway commissioner promised that he would be willing to have the highway department cooperate with the university in such a program.

Various Matters Discussed
At the business session, various matters were discussed, including plans for the rebuilding of alumni clubs, sponsorship of lecture tours through the upper peninsula by outstanding members of the university faculty, holding meetings to award honors to high school football teams, expansion of program for awarding scholarships and trophies to deserving students; and the 10-year program for the establishment of a permanent summer camp for the university forestry school in the upper peninsula.

Attendance List
Members and guests in attendance at the meeting were: Herbert J. Potter, Ishpeming; T. Hawley Tapping, Ann Arbor; John Swanson, Ishpeming; Joseph J. Herbert, Paul E. Gero, Manistique; M. Robert Deo, Escanaba; Mr. and Mrs. Murray D. Van Wagoner, Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. Earle C. Kincaid, Pontiac; Mr. and Mrs. G. Donald Kennedy, Lansing; Francis A. Bell, Ishpeming; Charles M. Humphrey, Jr., Ironwood; A. J. Carlton, Escanaba; Miss Nina Jermain, Los Angeles; J. J. Boucher, John J. Walsh, Escanaba; Robert Drake, Jackson; T. B. Doyle, Menominee; G. A. Cotton, Escanaba; F. Price of Bread Raised Two Cents

Announcement was made Wednesday of an advance of two cents per loaf in the price of bread, effective today, Thursday, August 3. The advance was made necessary by the rapid advance in the price of ingredients going into the bread, combined with the processing tax, and the greater cost of producing under the new code of N.R.A.

Strange Noises Being Heard at Ludington Park

Shades of Dick Turpin, and Billy Summer walk again, but in a new field.

The residents of the Lake Shore Drive have been mystified by an uncanny, almost ghostly sound issuing from the marsh shortly beyond the west end of Ludington Park. The sound closely resembles some mysterious person busily engaged in becoming a one man audience as the constant echoes of clapping are heard practically every night, commencing close to nine o'clock and continuing into the wee hours of the morning.

No haunted house is conveniently located, thus dispelling one more belief of some of the more imaginative residents of this city. However, there may be something to this, something decidedly more than an illusion.

It is thought that perhaps it is the meeting place of some ghoulish organization, who led innocent victims to their lair by the curious sound, there to be murdered in a fiendish manner. The advent of the recent rash in kidnapping circles is believed to have actuated this theory.

On the other hand, it may be a phantom ship, the clapping the sound of waves washing against the side of the vessel. More serious thought leads some to believe that it may be another Norwegian schooner taking a long time to make port.

The Gordon Bennett Balloon Race will be held in connection with the Chicago World's Fair, between Sept. 1 and 4.

Mrs. Harrington, Former Resident, Is Laid To Rest

Funeral services for Mrs. Katharine B. Harrington, former resident, were held here yesterday afternoon. The remains arrived here yesterday morning from California where Mrs. Harrington died on July 19 and were taken to the Swedish Brothers funeral parlors and later to the Methodist Episcopal church where they rested until the hour of services.

Last rites were at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. H. W. Colenso, pastor, officiating. During the services two vocal selections, "Old Rugged Cross" and "Asleep in Jesus" were sung by Noble Swenson, The Royal Neighbors of America, of which the deceased was a member, attended in a body.

Surviving as pathbearers were M. Carl, Wilfred Reznor, Philip LaBelle, Fred Moran, Al Smith, and George Kelsor, all old friends of the family. Interment was made in the family lot in Fernwood cemetery beside the bodies of her late husband, Alonzo Harrington, and son, Ira, who passed away while the family still resided in the city.

Mrs. Harrington formerly resided in Gladstone for 20 years. Early in 1927, following the death of her husband which occurred in November of 1926, Mrs. Harrington moved to Ladysmith and four years ago went to California and resided at Carlsbad. Death occurred in San Diego and short services were held at Oceanide before shipping the body to Gladstone.

One of the daughters, Miss Irene Harrington of Chicago, was present at the services.

Kronan Outing At Lamberg's Grove On Sunday, Aug. 13

Kronan Lodge No. 25, S. F. of A., will hold their annual picnic at Lamberg's Grove on the Day's River on Sunday, August 13. It was announced yesterday by Leonard Elquist, chairman of the committee in charge.

essary. Seeing her made everything so much more difficult. A hundred times he had been close to blurt out the truth of Marcia's secret. He wanted to tell her, to say, "What do I care about a promise?"

"No, nothing matters to me but you and your love!"

But he could not allow himself to do that. He had made his vow to Marcia.

Now he said in answer to Elinor's question about Marcia, "I ran in to see her for a few minutes."

"How are things?"
"Bad," he told her.

She caught her breath. Fright darkened the blue eyes. "Poor Marcia!" Elinor whispered.

The game farm set 8,000 eggs and about 6,400 chicks were put in the rearing fields. The birds will be released in pheasant areas during the coming fall. In addition, 4,500 eggs were used for incubator and breeder experiments.

The hatching was done by the poultry department of Michigan State college. Some of the chicks are being reared at the game farm and the rest are being reared at the Kellogg farm near Gull Lake.

Interest in the propagation of the neck pheasant by Smith-Hughes agricultural schools began last year when several thousand birds were hatched out by the students. Almost 10,000 eggs were distributed to such schools again this year.

BUILDING HERE IS PADLOCKED

Structure at 805 Delta, Owned by Fred Anderson, Closed

A padlock was yesterday placed on a building at 805 Delta avenue, owned by Fred Anderson, and occupied by Allen Gillis, by U. S. Marshal Martin Brown.

Gillis, who operated a soft drink parlor in the structure, was arrested sometime ago for violation of the national prohibition law and following his plea of guilty during a recent term of federal court was fined $200.

A temporary injunction was issued shortly after the arrest and the permanent injunction was issued in the court of Judge Fred M. Raymond, U. S. judge for the Western Michigan district on July 13, which closes the building for one year.

Legion To Sponsor Stage Production Here In November

Arrangements have been completed by August Mattson Post of the American Legion for the staging of an amateur production entitled "The World's All Right."

The story is laid in a radio broadcasting studio with the announcer acting as master of ceremonies and entertainment in the form of a high class radio broadcast is unfolded before the audience.

The show is produced in eight scenes, each set to music and each portraying an entirely different type of story and plot. Among the scenes are: The Stars and Stripes, the Collegians, the Vestal Choir, the Irish quartette and the Tiny Tot parade.

Epworth Institute Well Attended Says Rev. H. W. Colenso

This year's Epworth League Institute, the 12th annual of such outings, now in progress at Lake Michigamme is well attended and is proving highly enjoyable and successful, according to Rev. H. W. Colenso, pastor of the local Methodist church and dean of the Institute council, who returned to Gladstone late Tuesday night.

Between 275 and 300 persons are in attendance at the conference which opened last Friday and is scheduled to close this coming Sunday. Election of the various officers will be held on Friday afternoon.

Rev. Colenso will not return to Michigamme, but with his family will leave this morning on a vacation trip during which he will visit the World's Fair at Chicago, later going on to Detroit and Cleveland. His duties at the Institute for the few days remaining have been assumed by Rev. S. A. Carey of Lake Linden.

The Bethel Lutheran church will celebrate its annual Mission festival next Sunday, August 6. In the morning German service will be at 10:30. In the afternoon service will be at 2 o'clock in the English language.

Rev. Edward Krause will be the speaker on this occasion. Everyone is invited to attend.

The game farm set 8,000 eggs and about 6,400 chicks were put in the rearing fields. The birds will be released in pheasant areas during the coming fall. In addition, 4,500 eggs were used for incubator and breeder experiments.

The hatching was done by the poultry department of Michigan State college. Some of the chicks are being reared at the game farm and the rest are being reared at the Kellogg farm near Gull Lake.

Interest in the propagation of the neck pheasant by Smith-Hughes agricultural schools began last year when several thousand birds were hatched out by the students. Almost 10,000 eggs were distributed to such schools again this year.

(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—Stocks today conformed to Tuesday's pattern, rallying in the last hour after a narrow, listless movement in the earlier trading. "Wall" issues were again prominent during the upturn, being joined by the metal issues. Volume was light, even with the late flurry.

Gains for the rank and file ranged from 1 to 2 points, though numerous particular favorites of the moment rallied more briskly. Wheat's improvement at Chicago, despite a reaction at Winnipeg, contributed a constructive influence, but shares had their major upward push after a financial news ticker had printed a Washington dispatch to the effect that inflationary moves by the administration might not be long delayed.

Mid-week sidelights on the state of trade revealed a marked tendency to hold the gains of spring and early summer. "Iron Age" said steel production was unchanged at 57 percent of capacity, adding that output in August seemed less likely to be affected by "seasonal influences than by a shortage of fuel" as a result of labor difficulties. The gain in electric power production last week over a year ago was 15.4 percent, the same increase as had been shown in the previous week. Freight traffic reports gave further evidence of some recession from recent peaks, but is well above 1932 levels.

Bingo Brown Resigns as Michigan Boxing Czar

Betting on Horse Races Authorized in Michigan

Lansing, Aug. 2 (AP)—Legalized betting on horse races in Michigan was formally authorized by the state administrative board today.

Acting under a new law, the board granted a lease on the state fair grounds, calling for at least 25 days of running races this year. Pari-mutuel machines will handle the wagers.

At the same time Governor Comstock announced the appointment of Mark R. Hanna, Detroit contractor, as state racing commissioner. Under the act he will be a "czar" with almost unlimited powers to regulate racing and betting. James

LUCAS SLAPPED HARD BY CUBS

Chicago Takes 10 to 6 Victory Over the Cincy Reds

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Cubs chased their old nemesis, Red Lucas, from the mound in less than one inning today and went on to a 10 to 6 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Lucas pitched to six batters and was able to retire only one of them, four singles and a hit batsman leading to four runs before his successor, Ray Kolp, could retire the side.

McCabe, of Detroit, is secretary of the racing association.

The lease on the state fair grounds was awarded to the Detroit Racing association. The incorporators include Charles B. Bohn, president, and Peter A. Markey, vice president. After this year the contract calls for a minimum return to the state of $100,000. In addition it is privileged to levy a tax on admissions. The lease demands at least 50 racing days in each of the next five years, for which the association must pay the state combined license fees and rentals of $6,000 a racing day.

It was estimated $100,000 will be expended putting the track in shape and providing a club house and betting sheds.

The appointment of Hanna as racing commissioner means the organization now may be set up for legalized betting through the state this fall. The act permits betting on harness races at fairs and elsewhere as well as running races.

A committee representing the Michigan Jockey club, made up of James Jones, Maynard Smith, Manfred Burligh and James Vernon, all of Detroit, met here and decided not to contest the award of the lease to the Bohn group. Spokesmen said they were primarily interested in properly conducted racing. The group had submitted a bid for a lease for 60 days of racing annually.

Lucas pitched to six batters and was able to retire only one of them, four singles and a hit batsman leading to four runs before his successor, Ray Kolp, could retire the side.

Game Held Up By Rain; Browns Are Defeated, 16 to 8

St. Louis, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians pounded Lena Stiles hard to stage an eight run rally in the ninth inning here today and defeat the St. Louis Browns, 16 to 8. In a game delayed 53 minutes by rain.

Two home runs by Hale and one by Wes Ferrell featured the hard hitting contest.

George Blacholder retired in favor of a pinch hitter after allowing eight runs in six innings, while Ferrell, ace of the Indian mounds, men was driven from the mound in the eighth when the Browns tied the count at 8-8.

The Cleveland victory came after two setbacks at the hands of the Browns.

ACTION ASKED BY COMSTOCK

James Duffy of Detroit Hinted as Possible Successor

Ypsilanti, Mich., Aug. 3 (AP)—James M. (Bingo) Brown, who resigned today as chairman of the Michigan boxing commission, at the request, he said, of Governor Comstock, plans to relinquish also his post as president of the National Boxing association.

Brown, a former football and basketball star at Colgate university, and at present dean of men at Michigan Normal college, said today that he would not seek reelection as head of the National Boxing body when the association holds its annual meeting in Minneapolis next month. He said he would support the election of Edwin C. Foster, of Providence, R. I., as president of the N. B. A. Foster at present is first vice president.

Brown, who has headed the Michigan commission for five years, will preside over his final meeting in Lansing Thursday. At that time four new members of the commission, recently appointed by Governor Comstock, will be formally inducted into office. They are James Duffy, of Detroit; George McKinley, of Flint; Emerson W. Dickerson, of Grand Rapids, and Raymond Johnson, of Ludington.

Governor Comstock has asked for my resignation," Brown said today, "and I will hand it to him tomorrow. He intends to reorganize the board and he doesn't want me around."

The governor gave no intimation today of Brown's probable successor. There have been reports that Duffy, the Detroit member of the commission, would be promoted to chairman, but these reports have not been confirmed from the governor's office.

ALL NEW MEMBERS
Lansing, Aug. 2 (AP)—Governor Comstock said today he probably will appoint a new chairman of the state boxing commission next week following announcement of the resignation of James M. (Bingo) Brown, of Ypsilanti.

Brown's resignation is not yet in the hands of the governor. The boxing czar, however, said he was submitting it to take effect tomorrow when the commission will hold a meeting here. The resignation means that an entirely new commission will assume office as Governor Comstock last week appointed new members to the other four places on the commission.

Brown was named boxing commissioner in 1928 by former Governor Fred W. Green, to succeed Thomas J. Bigler, of Marshall, who was the former executive dismissed.

Giants Get Even;
Trounce Phillies
In Second Battle

Philadelphia, Aug. 2 (AP)—With Jo Moore leading the attack and Roy Parmelee pitching effective ball, the New York Giants today earned an even break in a doubleheader with the Phillies, winning the second game by the lopsided score of 18 to 1 after falling before the power of the Philadelphia's bats in the opening contest, 13 to 6.

The Giants increased their lead to three games over the Pirates, who dropped a close decision to the Cardinals.

Umpire Barr Gives
Up In Heat Wave

Philadelphia, Aug. 2 (AP)—The terrific heat proved too much today for George Barr, National League umpire. He collapsed after calling balls and strikes through the first game of a double header in which the Phillies beat the Giants 13 to 6.

A physician was called from the stands to treat Barr and after he had been revived he was able to go to his hotel.

Novel Athletic Show
Will Be Staged Here
When Cyclists Arrive

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 2 (AP)—Harry Hornum, of Newark, N. J., set the pace for Armand Vincent's international bicycle marathon as the pedal pushers ground their way into Sherbrooke tonight to complete their third lap.

A big athletic show, different from anything ever staged here, will be put on at the Upper Peninsula State Fair grounds upon the arrival of the transcontinental bicyclists, evening, August 9.

The local program is being sponsored by the Escanaba-Wells-Kewanis club.

There will be a 10-mile foot race between seven international famous, including Pete Gavazzi, English-Italian champion who was second in C. C. Pyle's cross-country bunion derby a few years ago. Other sprinters to compete are August Enger, Sweden, pacemaker to Paavo Nurmi in his last American tour, Dan Hoey, Ireland; Sammy Richmond, Los Angeles; Felix Forger, Paris; Leo Tesse, Montreal, and Bobby DuFour, Boston. This race will last from 35 minutes to one hour.

The second attraction will be a 15-minute act by Rudy Eiseberg, of Berlin, world's famous trick cyclist.

"Daredevil" Trudeau will also put on his "death defying" jump on the motorcycle. The closing event on the program will be the 10-mile sprint of the bicycle racers around the fairgrounds track as the finish of the Saint Ste. Marie-Escanaba lap.

Chocolate Jeered
In Fight Decision

Barcelona, Spain, Aug. 2 (AP)—Kid Chocolate, the Cuban negro who holds the Cossacknight championship, won an unpopular ten round decision from Matchless, claimant of the Belgian title, in a ten round bout here tonight.

The crowd of 6,000 jeered and shouted at the decision, believing the Belgian's great work in the closing rounds had earned him a draw and threatened to mob the referee, Juan Casanova, and the two judges.

WHITE SOX NIP TIGES FOR TWO

Scores 2 to 1 and 4 to 3;
Ninth Inning Rallies
Give Clean Sweep

Detroit, Aug. 2 (AP)—Two ninth inning rallies gave the Chicago White Sox a clean sweep of a doubleheader with the Tigers here today. The scores were 2 to 1 and 4 to 3.

Berry hit a home run with Lyons on base in the last inning of the opener to drive in both Chicago runs. Swanson doubled with two out in the ninth inning of the nightcap to score Berry with the winning tally.

Sam Jones batted Fred Marberry in the first game, allowing seven hits to eight secured by the Sox. Vic Frasier started for the Tigers against his old teammates in the second game and was touched for eight hits before he gave way to a pinch batter, in the seventh inning, who succeeded him, was the losing pitcher.

Milton Gaston held the Tigers to eight hits in the aftermath, well scattered except in the fourth, when three of them were bunched for two runs.

The Sox tallied in the first inning of the second game on singles by Haas and Webb and Simmons' long fly. The Tigers took the lead in the fourth, Stone singled and so did Fox. Stone scored when Appling threw into the dugout trying to nip Fox, who took second on the error. Doljack's single scored Fox.

The Sox tied the score in the sixth when Swanson singled, advanced on Haas' sacrifice and Webb's single, and reached home on Appling's double. Hayes' single, Berry's sacrifice and Gaston's single gave the Sox another in the seventh.

The Tigers tied the score in the seventh on a single by White, batting for Frasier, and a triple by Owen.

Dykes doubled to open the ninth. Hayes fanned and Dykes went out trying to make third on Berry's infield drive. Gaston walked and then Swanson got his double that won the ball game.

The Tigers got their only run of the first game in the fourth on a singles by Rogell, a sacrifice by Owen and Gehring's two bagger.

Appling went out to start the ninth, but Dykes, singled, only to be forced by Lyons, batting for Hayes. Then came Berry's homer. It was a scorching fly that bounced off the top of a screen covering amplifiers of the public announcement system in left field.

Doljack fielded the ball and would have held Berry at second, but Umpire Dineen ruled it was a home run and loud protests from Manager Ruckey Harris and his cohorts failed to shake the ruling.

Fox doubled to open the Tiger half of the ninth, but after reaching third on Doljack's sacrifice, went out on Greenberg's infield smash. Walker ran for Greenberg and stole second but White grounded out and the game was over.

Charlie Grimm Happy As Baseball Manager

BY PAUL MICKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP)—If you don't think a major league baseball manager can be happy, you should have seen Charlie Grimm on the first anniversary of his ascension as man of the champion ship Chicago Cubs today.

A year of successes and disappointments lay behind him. Ahead was the increasingly difficult job of overtaking the surprising New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates in the 1933 National league pennant fight. Yet Charlie, cheered on by President William L. Veck and his mates, was as happy as a member of the Knothole gang with his first grandstand pass. Memories of the disastrous 1932 world series and a current losing streak on the road that tumbled his team from second place didn't bother Charlie a bit.

"We're far from licked yet," he beamed as he accepted congratulations from the teammates and friends. "It sure is a tough race and those Giants amaze me the way they stick up there, but we're about to get started. As far as I can see, it's a four team race between New York, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and ourselves and the long August stretch will tell the story."

"How do I like managing a big league ball club?" he asked. "Managing the Cubs is great. I couldn't be any happier doing anything else. If I could only start hitting 'em myself, and help out more, it would be swell."

Although the Cubs lost six games in a row on their last trip to Pittsburgh and stood to lose valuable ground to the Giants, Pirates and Cardinals while home town fans chided them for getting "homesick" for Wrigley field, harmony seemed to reign among the club officials and players today. President Veck gave him an encouraging pat on the back and the players reiterated their usual compliments to "the grandest guy in all baseball" as they appraise their manager.

"Grimm has had some tough breaks this year with injuries to himself, Riggs, Stephenson and Kiki Cuyler and has done remarkably well in the face of them," said President Veck, who astonished the baseball world just a year ago today by dismissing Rogers Hornsby as manager and installing Grimm as his successor. "Yet, we still have a good chance to win the pennant."

There has been only one noticeably sad note among the Cubs since Grimm became manager. It's been so busy with his duties that he hasn't entertained the players with his banjo.

"He's the best banjo player in baseball," one player moaned, "and sometimes I wish he wasn't manager just so he'd get more time to strum them strings."

ALL-STAR ACT BEATS RED SOX

Washington Now Two Full Games Ahead of New York

Washington, Aug. 2 (AP)—"Sheriff" Dave Harris, hard-slugging substitute outfielder, and Pitcher Alvin Crowder today put on an all-star act between them to help the Washington Senators to a 2 to 1 decision over the Boston Red Sox, stretching the nation's slim league lead over the Yankees to two full games.

While Crowder was defying a blistering sun to hold the up-and-coming Sox to four lone singles, Harris gave the Senators a chance to win by poling a home run into the left field stands to tie the score in the eighth. It was his third homer within two days.

Bob Weiland, Sox flinger, allowed Washington fans little to cheer about until past the start of the eighth. Although liberal with his passes, sand granting six hits, he tightened up when his meant runs to blank the Senators for seven innings.

A single by Heinie Manush to center in the ninth, while three of his team mates crowded the base paths, brought across the winning run with only one out.

Score by innings:
Boston 000 000 100-1 4 1
Washington 000 000 011-2 8 0
Weiland, Kline, Brown and Ferrell, Crowder and Sewell.

Twelve Inning Contest Is Won By Cards, 4-3

Pittsburgh, Aug. 2 (AP)—With hostilities flaring for the second time in two days, St. Louis trounced Pittsburgh 4 to 3 today in a 12 inning melee marked by a fist exchange between Bill Walker, Card pitcher, and Arky Vaughan, Buc shortstop, and disputes with the umpire.

The Cardinals evaded the score in the seventh, registering two runs and forged ahead in the eighth with another tally. The Pirates added one in their half of the ninth to knot to score.

To Pirates had the tying run on second with one out when Vaughan grounded to Crawford. Walker crashed into him, Walker swung at the base runner and the shortstop retaliated. Meanwhile, Paul Waner raced him with the tying run. The contestants were ejected.

Score by innings:
St. Louis 000 000 210 001-4 11 3
Pittsburgh 000 020 001 000-3 10 1

Bad Luck Ends As Athletics Nip Yankees, 16 to 3

New York, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics, snapping their six-game losing streak with 19 hits behind the effective pitching of George Earnshaw and Kube Walberg, today defeated the New York Yankees 16 to 3 in the first game of the series. The defeat shoved the Yanks two games back of the Senators, who defeated the Red Sox.

Earnshaw, pitching seven innings before being relieved because of the extreme heat, gave seven bases on balls, but set the Yanks down with seven hits and only two runs. Walberg yielded one run and three hits during his two-inning sojourn on the mound.

KING EXPLAINS RECOVERY ACT

Michigan Secretary of Socialist Party Speaks Here

"The National Recovery Act and What it Means to Labor" was the subject of a highly interesting address delivered by Francis King, Detroit, state secretary of the Socialist party, at a public meeting held at the city hall last night.

Mr. King, a graduate of the University of Michigan, is now employed with the civil service commission of the city of Detroit. He has been the party's state secretary for the last two years.

End of Laissez Faire
The National Recovery Act marks the end of the laissez faire system in this country, Mr. King declared. He explained that in place of "business controlling government as in the past, government will control business in the future." He also pointed out that the things former President Hoover merely asked business to do during his administration are now being put into effect through compulsion by President Roosevelt.

Mr. King expressed the opinion that the cause of labor stands to take a step forward under the National Recovery Act, since it encourages the unionization of the working classes and protects them from interference by unscrupulous and selfish employers. The notorious "yellow dog contract" is effectively invalidated by provisions of the act, the speaker said.

Says Wages Still Low

While these gains are indicated for the benefit of labor, Mr. King stated, the National Recovery Act does not promise the full restoration of purchasing power enjoyed by the worker back in the prosperous twenties. He called at tention to the fact that the code for the automobile industry calls for a minimum wage of $15 per week while the lowest pay received by these workers in 1929 was about $30. He also cited the minimum wage provisions of the codes that will govern the textile and other industries.

State Party's Views
Turning his remarks to the Socialist party's attitude toward the National Recovery Act, Mr. King said:

"The National Industrial Recovery Act constitutes an official admission that capitalism can make no recovery without government supervision. It marks a new stage in the struggle of workers against exploitation for profits, but falls far short of giving them their freedom."

"The NIRA is an effort to stabilize capitalism by establishing a partnership between the government, the owners and workers. Since the present government does not represent the workers but the owners, the act operates so as to preserve for the owners the privilege of wringing profits from workers through low wages and high prices. This effort requires concessions to labor and an invitation to it to collaborate in maintaining the profit system."

"The Socialist party, aware that a new situation confronts the American labor movement, believes that the immediate task of workers is to take their bearings in this new situation and then to launch a vigorous campaign to organize all the unorganized shops and industries. The gravest danger of all is that the new industrial set-up may easily become the framework of a Fascist state. If labor fails to rise to its opportunity Fascism will be the next step."

National Biscuit Signs Roosevelt Employment Code

The National Biscuit company, manufacturers of Uneda products, have signed President Roosevelt's reemployment agreement, according to a telegram received yesterday by E. J. Savageau, local manager.

This will put thousands of employees in the company's biscuit bakeries and distributing branches in line with the national recovery program. Five persons are employed at the local branch of the National Biscuit

Furnaces Resume Work After Five Months Shutdown

Newberry, Aug. 2.—The furnace of the Newberry Lumber & Chemical company will go into blast on Thursday after a five-month shutdown. With 12 of the 18 retorts already in operation the other six will be started at the same time, putting the local plant on a 100 per cent production basis. This announcement was made by P. S. Hamilton on the eve of his trip to Chicago where he was called for consultation by the company officials Wednesday.

Mr. Hamilton also announced that his company was putting itself into the New Deal schedule as rapidly as the mechanics of the change could be made. The change was not difficult to the sawmill and woods operations but for the chemical plant and iron department it means considerable adjustment both as to the number of hours and the days per week. He has every reason to believe, however, that the code will be in full operation in a very short time.

NEW ENGINEER

H. A. Thompson of Hancock is the new engineer at the Newberry state hospital, taking the place of John Brown who died suddenly last week. Mr. Thompson was born the year Mr. Brown came to the institution, 34 years ago. He was educated in the Hancock schools and in the College of Mining and Technology, Houghton, and has had a wide experience in both power and construction engineering. He is married and has four children. Mr. Thompson reports that he already has a great liking for his new work. He will move his family here later.

NEWBERRY LOCALS

Harry Baker made a business trip to Manistique on Monday.

Miss Margaret Nicholls, Mrs. William Nicholls, and Miss Lois Auten drove to Ironwood on Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Littey who have been visiting here for a time.

company, in addition to six salesmen who are traveling in this territory.

Next Sunday is the day for the annual picnic of the McMillan township band. Plans for the big event are now under way and will be announced later.

Julius Thorson with wife and son attended the annual homecoming of the tribe at Steven's Point, Wis., on Sunday last. More than 500 members and connections of the family were present. The local family returned on Monday.

Miss Beatrice Yoch, Miss Louise Walker, both of Detroit, spent last week-end with Miss Velma Baker at the hospital location.

Miss Angelina Tharson returned on Monday from an extended visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Siner Yorgeson, at Neenah, Wis.

BATH HOUSES BUILT

Bath houses equipped with showers are being constructed at the C. C. C. camps in this locality. One at the Newberry camp is completed and now in use and the one at the Seney camp was started on Monday. The Murphy Construction company, of Ashland, Wis., is doing the work.

Search For Man Lost In Gladwin Marsh Is Futile

Gladwin, Mich., Aug. 1 (AP)—Two men in an airplane and 66 on the ground failed in their concerted search today to locate Albert W. Bayles, 67 year old Columbus, O., railway inspector missing in a huckleberry marsh near here since Monday afternoon.

Russell J. Martin, regional supervisor of the state conservation department, directed the search. He flew for nearly two hours in a plane piloted by Herman Colbeck, Beaverton, in a futile effort to locate Bayles.

Other conservation officers headed a group of 50 civilian conservation corps members in the search of the marsh. Martin planned to increase the ground force to 300 Wednesday.

The general feeling is that he lost his bearings and may be wandering about the burning marsh. Others feel, however, that he probably was overcome by the extreme heat.

BELIEVES U. S. WILL COLLECT

Van Wagoner Does Not Expect Cancellation of 70% Loans

Will the loans being made by the federal government to municipalities, counties and other governmental units for public works projects under the National Recovery Act program eventually be cancelled?

This question, often asked during the last several weeks, was asked again at the meeting of several county delegations with Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, at the court house yesterday.

In replying to the query, Mr. Van Wagoner stated that his interpretation of the National Recovery Act is that the federal government will expect repayment of these loans.

Outright grants of 30 per cent of the cost of materials and labor will be made to governmental agencies who launch public work projects for the relief of unemployment, these being such projects as street paving, sewer and water main construction. To finance the remaining 70 per cent of the cost of such projects, loans will be given by the federal government on moderate terms.

There has been the impression prevailing in the minds of many that payment of these loans will never be required. On this theory, some have advocated the launching of many projects as can obtain approval from the public works administration.

Mr. Van Wagoner is a member of the Michigan advisory commission on public works, the other members being Frank H. Alvord and Leo J. Nowicki, Detroit. Members of this commission and G. Donald Kennedy, business manager of the state highway department, conferred with officials of the public works administration in Washington last Monday. Rules for the handling of public works in Michigan are expected from Washington within a few days, Mr. Van Wagoner said yesterday, and as soon as this information is received, the advisory commission will begin the study of various proposed projects.

LIVESTOCK TO BE ON DISPLAY

Special Exhibit Planned for Chatham Round-up, August 12

The sheep flock, swine herd and horse herd will be on special exhibit at the Farmers' Round-Up, Chatham, August 12, according to L. H. Blakeslee, research assistant in animal husbandry.

The horse herd is described by Mr. Blakeslee as demonstration that brood mares can do double duty by raising colts and at the same time working in the fields. Mr. Blakeslee points out that the horse population in the United States has decreased 37 per cent in the past 12 years, making an actual shortage in horses. This has meant a higher comparative price for horses than any other class of livestock.

The sheep flock is made up of 180 breeding ewes with the 1933 crop of lambs. "These sheep are used at the experiment station," Mr. Blakeslee says, "to carry on experiments on feeding and breeding." The flock is carried on under the best management practices and the results show the value of such recommendation, in Mr. Blakeslee's opinion.

The hog herd under Mr. Blakeslee's direction, consists of 10 outbred Yorkshire sows and one boar. The pigs produced are used in experimental feeding work. The most important feeding problem being solved in these experiments is to produce pork with home grown feed, he thinks.

"We do not expect the upper peninsula to ever become a great hog producing territory," says Mr. Blakeslee. "We do think, however, that many families can profitably raise and fatten one litter of pigs for home consumption instead of the usual practice of buying, fattening and butchering one pig. Our experience has shown that this pork can be entirely produced on home grown feed."

Reed Canary Grass

The value of reed canary grass for pasture is being determined at the Upper Peninsula Experiment Station by L. H. Blakeslee, research assistant in animal husbandry, and B. R. Churchill, research assistant in farm crops. Sheep are being pastured on this crop and a comparison made with permanent June grass and red clover pasture. Records of actual weights and pasture days are being kept of the sheep on the different lots.

"A great deal has been written in farm papers about reed canary grass," says Mr. Blakeslee and Mr. Churchill. "Because of this publicity many people have asked us about the crop in Upper Peninsula conditions. We believe one year's test will give some indication of results and we invite anyone interested to visit the experiment station at Round-Up time August 12. At that time the plots will have been pastured more than two months and we will have some real information to give out."

Bibliomancy is the term used to designate the practice some people have when puzzled of opening the Bible at random, reading a verse, and allowing it to determine the person's course of action.

Many Are Planning Sunday Train Ride To Paul Bunyan's

Much interest in being displayed by the general public in the trip to the Paul Bunyan camp, north of Nahma, on Sunday, Henry F. Anderson, president of the Escanaba Kiwanis club, announces.

Everyone, whether a member of the Kiwanis club or not, is invited to make the trip. A very reasonable charge is being made for the ride over the three railroads to the lumber camp and also for the luncheon meal that will be served. Reservations can be made with any member of the Escanaba Kiwanis club, the Office Service company, and local drug stores.

BRIEFLY TOLD

54 More Sign—Fifty-four employees of Escanaba signed the president's re-employment agreement yesterday and received their "Blue Eagle" insignias at the postoffice. Forty-one signed up Tuesday, making the total 95.

30 Day Sentence—Raymond Landerville and George Robinson, both of Manistig, were sentenced yesterday by Justice of the Peace H. E. Rungtette to serve 30 days in the county jail on a charge of stealing automobile tires.

Three Meetings—Three different groups of business establishments will meet this week at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce to discuss the National Recovery Act program. The hotel and restaurant owners will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Coal dealers and building supply men will meet at 10 o'clock Friday morning, while those identified with the foundry and machine shop business will meet at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

FRATERNAL

Elks to Attend
All members of Escanaba Lodge No. 354, B. P. O. Elks, are urged to attend the funeral services for Nicholas Britz at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Alto Funeral Home.

Swedes Seek African Gold
Nairobi, Kenya Colony (AP)—An East African syndicate has hired Swedish experts to try for gold on Mount Elgon with electrical devices for locating ore bodies. More than 500 gold seekers already are on the extinct volcano where, it is said, rain washes down grains of the yellow metal.

Bears do not hibernate on a full stomach; they fast for several weeks before denning up.

POWERS

Powers—Forest fires are still burning near "Camp 5", up river. Several truckloads of men have been taken to the burning area in the past few days. Two fire trucks owned by conservation department; one from Stephenson and one from Hermansville have been on the job night and day. A red-cross truck was called to the fire scene Saturday to render services to men injured while on duty.

Berry pickers have been numerous near Camp 5 and it is thought possible that a carelessly thrown match or cigarette is to blame for the timber fire now raging. The timber tract is owned by the Oliver Iron Mining company of Duluth.

BARBERS ADOPT BLANKET CODE

10 Hour Week Maximum Is Accepted; Open 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

At a meeting of Escanaba barber shop owners held at the Palace shop, 1119 Ludington street, last night, it was decided that local barber shops would adopt the blanket code of the National Recovery Administration until such time as the permanent barber code of the NRA which is now being drafted becomes effective. The blanket code provides for a maximum of 40 hours per week for the employees.

Barber shops in the city cooperating with the NRA program will be open 54 hours per week. Hours will be from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. every day including Saturdays.

Shop owners who attended the meeting last night and agreed to accept the blanket code for the business are: S. E. Pulley, H. Nerbonne, Oliver Groseau, Del LaCombe, James V. Anzalone, Harry J. Hebert, James Ashland, Joe Asselin, Frank Wawirka, Ambrose Clement, Sam Rogers, Frank Guluski, William Casey, Joseph Richards, Alex Perrin, Joseph Bellin and George Walker.
